PORTIA FAVOURED TO WIN

Woodland Stag's Task In Australian Race

FLYING TOURIST TO START UNDER CHAMPION JOCKEY

(By Morning Dew)

There is a programme of eight races this afternoon for the first day of the tenth extra race meeting, which will be continued on October 10.

Excellent sport should be seen as the races are very open and big dividends are more than likely.

The "Doubles" event to-day is fixed for the second and fifth races, two very open events, which may provide as big a dividend as the Colony's first venture in "doubles" at the last meeting.

COSSACK'S BEAUTY OR MAYFLOWER?

The programme opens with a "B" class race over a mile and a quarter and top weight, has been allotted to King's Bounty and Champagne Bay. The former will certainly be in the picture most of the way and should run into a place.

The race, however, is likely to lie between Cossack's Beauty and Mayflower. Cossack's Beauty ran a good race at the last meeting to finish ahead of Hetman and although he is carrying 21 pounds more to-day, he is running in the "B" class and ought to do well. Mayflower has had thirteen pounds taken off him and is a distinctly good proposition.

Of the others The Tiger looks a good thing as a long shot, and Blue Star is not a bad bet, since he is very fit just now. Valorous may start here, but over a mile and a quarter, does not look dangerous.

Novices Race

Mr. P. P. Botelho riding Melody looks a cinch for the second race where there are thirteen entries, all of which are likely to accept. If Black Rock runs well he should give Melody a good race and White Butterfly, too, may give a good account of himself. No Fear should be able to run into a place if all goes well with him. Paul Jones over a mile is not so attractive a proposition with a novice on his back.

Canberra Handicap

Portia gets a concession of seven pounds from Woodland Stag and as she is as fit as a fiddle, I expect Johnny Heard will steer her home in front of the Dunbar representative. Sunup ran a good race at the last meeting and with only 145 pounds to carry, ought to get very near the leaders at the finish. City of Brisbane is fit but I fear, not classy enough. Nguk is the long shot for this race!

October Handicap

The field is likely to be very "ted" in the "A" class race over a mile and a quarter as I hear Trenbridge is not likely to go to the post. In his absence Sadko ought to score an easy win since he has only 150 pounds to look after. King's Justice carries 153 pounds and although he has a slight advantage in weight, expect Mr. Soars' candidate to win. Hetman's 145 pounds may induce him to go to the post but his chances do not look too bright.

The Second "Leg"

There is no doubt that Warrington with Mr. Frost, up will go to the post a warm favourite for the Jordan Handicap for "D" class. He should win. National Day did not do well in the Challenge Cup and I do not think he will trouble the favourite. Partnership, with the distance, absolutely suited to his liking, is a real threat to Warrington's chances and looks a good each way bet. Vigilance and Now's The Time are not entirely out of it and Amoy and Burginaster also may provide the surprise, if there is going to be any. This race is the second leg of the "Double" and unless Warrington wins, the dividend is likely to be very handsome.

Kimberley Handicap

The "C" class race is very open indeed and the surprise winner of the last meeting, Flying Tourist, has been given top-weight. He is being taken out by Mr. Frost to-day and should win. Mike has been going well in his gallops and at 151 pounds is a distinctly good bet. Bistre is down in weight and can be depended upon to give a good account of himself. Solar Star and Street Singer are the outsiders in this race.

Austin Plate

This six furlongs race for griffins of this year which have not yet won $1,000 looks a very good thing for Esk and Stickypast who will probably finish in that order. The Cavalier may get into third place.

If Per Se does not give trouble at the gate, he is a very good thing to back for this event. The gamble is whether he will behave himself.

Adam's Race

The last race of the day looks an excellent thing for Adam who has only 152 pounds to look after. Wembley Stag would have been a good thing here, but I think he is carrying too much weight. Cebu and Ajax are not entirely out of it, and the latter especially may prove a surprise. Powerful King is down to a light weight, and is a good each way bet.

HANKOW CUSTOMS TO BE CURBED

Petition Requests Abolition Of Special Agents

Nanking, Oct. 2. In a petition to the Executive Yuan, the Ministry of Finance and the National Opium-Suppression Commission request that the practice instituted by the Special Revenue Department at Hankow of despatching agents to the various steamers passing through the port for the purpose of searching for contraband, be discontinued. The petition points out that the practice is a violation of the power and functions of the Customs authorities, and requests that the military headquarters at Hankow be instructed to abolish the posts of steamer inspectors created by that Department. The Executive Yuan referred this petition to the Military Affairs Commission for attention. Kuo Min

ENGINEERING AND BUILDING

THE CENTENARY OF GUSTAV EIFFEL

Tower Builder And Steel Engineer

Recently there was celebrated in France the centenary of Alexandre Gustav Eiffel, who was born in Dijon on the 15th December 1832, famous of course in connection with the Eiffel towers in Paris, and Blackpool.

Quite apart from this, however, Eiffel was undoubtedly one of the greatest structural steel engineers in the history of the world, and he designed and built for example many famous bridges and viaducts, having a works at Levallois Perret, near Paris.

The well known Eiffel tower in Paris was completed in 1889 on the Champs de Mars, being 984 feet high, much more than twice the height of the Dome of St. Paul's (404 feet), the cost being about £300,000. Apart from pleasure purposes the tower, taken over by the Municipality of Paris in 1909, has proved to be of the utmost importance to a number of sections of science, including meteorology, the chemistry of the atmosphere, astronomy, aerodynamics, and wireless. Since 1921, for example, "Radio Paris" has been one of the world's most important broadcast stations, widely used by British listeners because of the heavy Sunday programmes of British stations.

BLACKPOOL'S TOWER.

The Eiffel tower at Blackpool was erected by Heenan and Froude Ltd. of Manchester, the foundation stone having been laid on the 23rd September 1891, and the height to the crown nest is 450 feet, with 518'9" to the top of the flagstaff. In the construction the weight of steel used for the tower only was 2,493 tons, with also 83 tons of cast iron, while 965 tons of steel, 250 tons of cast iron, and over 3,000,000 bricks were employed in constructing the entertainment buildings round the base of the tower. Also it may be stated duplicate lifts are employed to take visitors to the top, starting 55 feet above the ground and going to a height of 373 feet to the main upper level, from which the more daring visitors may ascend still higher by means of staircases and ladders.

Of great importance is the protection of these huge steel towers from rust and corrosion, but it is interesting to note that no trouble has been caused in this connection during the 40 years' life of the Blackpool Tower since Red Lead paint is used exclusively for the ground coat of all the steelwork, about 10 tons of paint being required for one coat. The Blackpool Tower Co. Ltd. always anxious to use the best of everything when the smart appearance and the efficiency of the Tower structure is concerned state they have found nothing yet to beat Red Lead paint and the steelwork is still in excellent condition after the long exposure to the wind and rain and the spray from the Irish Sea. This is a striking example of the value of Red Lead paint in protecting iron and steel from rust and corrosion, which has long been the standard method for bridges, lighthouses, pit-head gear, aerials for high tension transmission lines, and other exposed structures.

SHIPPING AND MACHINERY UP-TO-DATE

The Olympia Exhibition

It would be unfair to apply the quantity test to this year's Shipping and Machinery Exhibition, at Olympia, says the Manchester Guardian. The exhibition this year is but only the export is likely to notice that. It is, however, considering the condition of the shipping and allied industries in the country in the past few years, as healthy and as progressive-looking an exhibition as has been seen at Olympia during the present exhibition season.

This year the organisers have succeeded in arranging an exhibition which ought to excite the enthusiasm of schoolboys while drawing the more restrained nods of approval from the experts. This year even the housewife will find to interest her such things as a spray-painting outfit which may be run from an ordinary household electric lighting point, a suite of wicker furniture of four chairs, and a table which folds into a space nine inches deep, and a combined wood preservative and stain (of many colours) by means of which wood may be rendered proof against dry-rot, and which is also fire-resisting. For the schoolboy (as well as the mechanically minded grown-up), there are such excitements, among the forest of binnacles, replicas of ship's bridges, wireless cabins, and such-like, as the Armstrong-Whitworth 15-ton Diesel electric shunting locomotive, which runs up and down 150 feet of railway track. This, it was said, is the first time a locomotive has been installed in working order in an enclosed exhibition in this country.

GOVERNMENT SCIENTIFIC EXHIBITS

The Government is taking part in this year's exhibition for the first time and is represented by the Post Office and the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research. The Post Office, to give the lie to a recent report that wireless telephone conversations from British stations were being overheard by foreigners, demonstrates how the speakers are "scrambled" into unrecognisable and uncanny sounds.

The exhibits of the Scientific Research Department may not catch everyone's eye at a first glance, but they are full of unusual interest. A collection of miniature ship's propellers fastened to a board disclose the story of recent experiments in the tanks at Teddington by means of which as much as 10 per cent. has been added to the speed of British cargo vessels.

Another exhibit, hardly less exciting in appearance, is an invention which is claimed to have revolutionised the surveying of ships for seaworthiness, enabling the thickness of steel plates to be measured when there is access only from one side of

ENGINEERING CONTRACTS

Orders Secured By British Firm

Messrs. Dorman Long and Company, Limited, 33, Broadway, Westminster, London, S.W.1, have obtained, from Messrs. Hull City and Suburban Cinemas, Limited, the contract for the supply and erection of the 870-ton steel framework of the new Regent Cinema at Hull. The contract stipulates that the steelwork must be completed in 8 weeks from the receipt of particulars, and the actual erection of the 870 tons of steelwork is to be completed in 5 weeks.

Messrs. John M. Henderson and Company, Limited, King's Works, Aberdeen, have received an order for a 4-ton, 1,000-ft. span, travelling aerial cableway from the British Phosphate Commissioners. They have also obtained an order from Messrs. The Croft Granite, Brick and Concrete Company, Limited, Leicester, for a radial cableway for a load of 6 tons, and having a span of 1,236 ft. A third contract they have in hand is for the winches and traversing gear for the trawler slipway at the new Grimsby Fish Dock, the main contract for which has been placed with Messrs. P. and W. MacLellan, Limited, Glasgow.

Messrs. William Simons and Company, Limited, Renfrew, have received two contracts for dredgers. The first is for a Diesel-engined 27-in. cutter suction reclamation dredger, for river service, to the order of Messrs. The Burnish Oil Company, Limited. Machinery of 3,000 brake horse-power will be installed in the dredger and the suction frame will dredge to a depth of 40 ft. Two pumps will deliver 1,000 tons of solids per hour to an elevation of 38 ft. at the end of 14 miles of floating and shore pipe line. The second order is from the Chinese Purchasing Commission for a small steam-driven cutter suction dredger of the firm's radial design. This type of dredger is particularly suited for work in narrow channels.

Messrs. The Chloride Electrical Storage Company, Limited, 137, Victoria-street, London, S.W.1, have received an order for an Exide battery of 220 cells, type SFG/6, for the Palace of the Dalmi Lama, ruler of Tibet. The parts of the battery will be specially packed for the 300-mile overland journey by mule, yak or coolie.

Messrs. Ruston and Hornsby, Limited, Lincoln, are to supply four 100-kW auxiliary generating sets for the Incomati, a vessel which is being built for Messrs. Andrew Weir and Company, London, by Messrs. Workman Clark (1928), Limited, Belfast.

Messrs. Radivisor Parent, Limited, 28, Little Russell-street, London, W.C.1, have received the order for completing the installation of smoke indicators in the Barking Power Station of the County of London Electric Supply Company. This will make a total of eighteen instruments.

the plate. The Department has made some strange discoveries during its experiments into marine corrosion. It will come as a surprise to many visitors to learn that there are still in commission steamships with the original wrought iron plates, such as the a.s. Edna, which were built as long ago as 1864 and saw service in both the Crimean and the Great War.

IMPERVIOUS CONCRETE

Experiments With Mining Etc.

A paper on Aggregate Grading and Concrete Quality, which Professor Walsh has contributed to the proceedings of the Institution of Civil Engineers of Ireland, contains valuable information for those engaged in concrete work. The paper deals with experiments which Professor Walsh has carried out with a view to providing a simple method whereby aggregates can be combined, scientifically, to produce impervious concrete. His experiments, based on the grading of the aggregates, follow the lines laid down by Fuller, Bolomey and others who have evolved formulae and graphs depicting the type of grading which will give concrete of maximum density. Professor Walsh, however, has gone a step further and has established zones for three types of concrete, viz., "lean," "medium" and "rich," so that it is possible to see, almost at a glance, whether a particular mixture of any two aggregates will produce a workable concrete. The procedure, together with the tables which are included in the paper, showing the water-cement ratio to use and the yield of concrete, to be expected, should effect a considerable saving in time when considering the values of different supplies of aggregates. It must be borne in mind, however, that the tables are based on dry materials, and allowance should be made, on the job, for the bulking effect of moisture in the fine aggregate, if the desired results are to be attained.

Professor Walsh has paid special attention to the need for workability of the concrete, coupled with density, strength being the last consideration in view of the high standard of modern Portland cement. It would have been of interest if tests for permeability could have been included showing the relative resistance to water pressure of the various mixtures. The slump cone and flow table were used as guides to workability, but Professor Walsh admits that, even so, reliance had to be placed on the behaviour of the concrete under the shovel. It is to be hoped that, before long, some more accurate method of comparing the workability of different concrete mixtures will be forthcoming.—"Engineering."

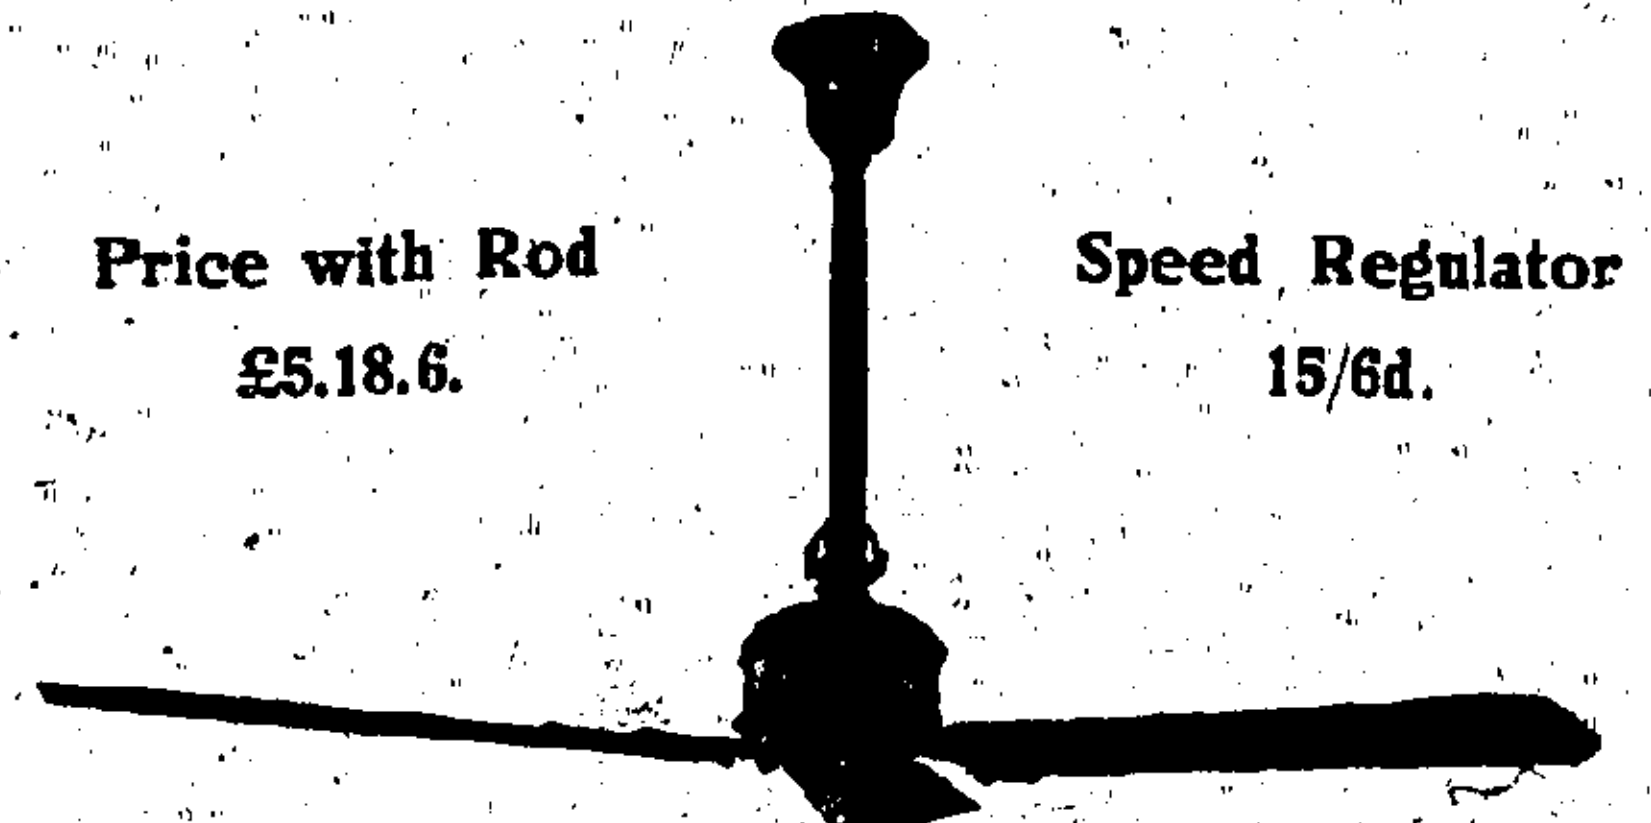

Messrs. Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth and Company (Engineers), Limited, Thames House, Westminster, London, S.W.1, inform us that negotiations have been completed, as a result of which the London and North Eastern Railway Company will put the new Armstrong Whitworth streamlined Diesel-electric rail coach, into regular service on the suburban and outlying railway systems outside Newcastle. Two power units of identical design were recently ordered by a South American railway, while a contract for another unit has just been placed by an Indian railway.—"Engineering."

SCOTSMEN AND WILLEDSEN

Edinburgh, Sept. 12. Memories of travel between London and Glasgow before the days of the great railway amalgamations were revived by the prominence which is being claimed by Willesden. To-morrow the Lord Mayor of London will hand over a new charter to Willesden which will incorporate this huge district as a municipal borough. It is, however, not the new honour that is to be bestowed upon it, but just the name "Willessden" that revived memories. It was here that Scotsmen on their way to London were called upon to produce their "passports," as one cynic termed it. All incoming trains stopped at Willessden for the collection of tickets. It was the gateway that most Scotsmen passed through on their way to the Metropolis. Now the Royal Scot hurries past it.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH IN TARTAN

A great cheer from a crowd estimated at 30,000 welcomed this afternoon one of the most representative Royal parties that have attended the Braemar gathering for some years. At three o'clock the King and Queen arrived at the Princess Royal Park, and accompanying them were the Duke and Duchess of York and Princess Elizabeth.

With them were the Prime Minister and the Archbishop of Canterbury. A few minutes earlier the Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught had arrived at the park.

The King and the Duke of York were both in Highland dress. The Duchess was wearing a skirt of Hunters' Stuarts Tartan, and Princess Elizabeth wore one of Royal Stuart, with a yellow jumper and a dark beret. The little Princess was fascinated as the clansmen with bands and banners marched past carrying their Lochaber axes, pikas and claymores.

REVIVING THE SCHOTTISCHE. Lord Huntly, himself chief of the Gordons and so "Cock of the North," laments the passing, or if not that, the modification, of the old Highland dances. Particularly he laments the Highland Schottische, a round dance, as it was danced in his young days, with dash and ceremony.

Hopeful of reviving it in all its Highland bravery and beauty, he is offering special prizes for it at to-day's gathering. This means the presence on the dancing board of men and women as partners, and the following of the steps and convolutions originally associated with the Highland Schottische.

Lord Huntly's challenge to the Highland lads and lasses of Deeside as dancers worthy of their dance inheritance is sure of a warm response. And who knows whether it may not have a wider influence on our ballroom fashions?

THREE IN RETIREMENT

When Sir John Lamb leaves the Scottish Office there will be three Under-Secretaries for Scotland living in retirement, the other two being Sir Reginald Macleod of Macleod, who is about to entertain the Duke and Duchess of York at Dunvegan Castle, and Sir James Miller Dodds, Sir Reginald held the office from 1902 to 1908 and Sir James Dodds from 1909 to 1921, when he was succeeded by Sir John Lamb, who in 1926 became the first Under-Secretary of State for Scotland.

"UNUSUAL" FILMS FOR GLASGOW

I hear that Glasgow has been chosen as one of the "key centres" of Great Britain where "unusual" films seldom shown out of London are to be exhibited regularly. Mr. Eric Hakim, who has successfully pioneered the movement of "unusual" pictures here, tells me that, a close study of cinema audiences throughout Britain has prompted him to extend his activities to the provinces and Scotland. Mr. Hakim is not of the "highbrow school" who must have something so exclusive on the screen that few can understand what it is all about. The films he chooses are primarily entertaining, but seldom find their way into the programmes of ordinary cinemas, because they demand a little thought. The difficulty of some of them being in a foreign language is surrounded by the superimposition of titles in English, which tends to combine the appeal of the silent film with that of the "talkie."

"BOXING BARONETS" MANY INTERESTS

Clan chiefs in kilts mingled with more sombrely-clad visitors from all parts of Scotland when his portrait in oils was presented by the Duke of Montrose to Sir Iain Colquhoun, who occupies many important offices in Scotland. He has been Lord High Commissioner of the Church of Scotland. Sir Iain is a prominent figure in boxing quarters, and has refereed many fights. He was champion light-weight of the British Army in 1913-14, and has long been known as "the boxing baronet." In accepting the portrait, which has been subscribed for by people from all over Scotland, and also in acknowledging a gift to Lady Colquhoun, Sir Iain said the list of subscribers would arouse memories of the Church and the athletic field, and his other interests.

AUSTRALIAN INVITATION TO SCOTTISH PEOPLE

The State Victoria (Australia) celebrates its centenary on October 15 next year in Melbourne, and the Royal Caledonian Societies of Victoria and the Commonwealth of Australia have issued invitations to the Scottish people to be present, the invitations being a return for the hospitality received by the Australian-Scottish delegation which visited this country in 1928. The Hon. Richard Linton, Agent-General for the State of Victoria, London, who is at present in Edinburgh, has discussed the matter with Lord Provost Thomson, and the Lord Provost is calling a public meeting to be held in Edinburgh on October 28. It is expected that Mr. Stanley M. Bruce, Australian Minister in London, Mr. J. H. Thomas, Dominion Secretary, Sir Godfrey Collins, the Secretary for Scotland, and others will address the meeting.

DUKE AND DUCHESS VISIT ISLE OF SKYE

The Duke and Duchess of York stayed last night in the Castle of Dunvegan, the ancestral home of Macleod of Macleod, in the Isle of Skye. This is the first official Royal visit since 1540, when James V. was at Portree with the Royal fleet.

There have been unofficial visits since then. King Edward in 1902 put in at Uig while cruising in his yacht, and Prince George not many years ago was on the island when on service in a destroyer.

INVESTMENT TRUSTS IN SCOTLAND

The news that the late Mr. Robert Fleming left a personal estate of over £2,000,000 comes as no surprise to the many people who have made direct or indirect contact with him through his Glasgow investment trust companies. It was he who, fifty-five years ago in Dundee, founded the practice of investment trust company finance, and who made such a success of it that he was quickly emulated in England, and in recent years (since the war) in the United States and on the European continent. There are now over a hundred such companies in Scotland. They together control £200,000,000 of capital.

Mr. Fleming's three Dundee companies, the pioneers, by name the First, Second, and Third Scottish American Trust Companies, stand out as a monument to more than half a century's shrewd work. He himself crossed the Atlantic a hundred times in that period to find out for himself the prospects of the American railways. That was his technical speciality. His other speciality was hard work. His colleagues could never complain of the way he worked them because he himself worked still harder.

"I myself (writes a correspondent) saw him still at his desk at 8, Crosby Square, London, in January of last year, at the age of 84."

The King and Queen of Bulgaria spent their first day in Scotland shooting over Killybride Moor with their host, Sir A. Kay Muir, of Blair Drummond, Perthshire, and Lady Muir, on whose estate the moor is situated. King Boris had twenty brace. King Boris and Queen Giovanna proceed to Balmoral on Friday.

PREMIER LEAVES FOR BALMORAL

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald left Euston by the eleven o'clock train last night for Perth on his way to Balmoral, where he will be the guest of the King and Queen. Mr. MacDonald arrived at the station in the company of his daughter, Miss Sheila. MacDonald and his two sons, Malcolm and Alexander, were wearing a light-grey flannel suit and cap, and it was noticed that he also wore his horn-rimmed glasses. Mr. MacDonald, who looked tired, said: "I have had a heavy day. I shall turn in as soon as I can." Miss Sheila MacDonald travelled with her father and will go on to London.

MOST POWERFUL SEARCHLIGHT

Value For Navy And Air Defence

HOW RAY WASTE IS PREVENTED

The parallel beam searchlight, which embodies a principle now utilised for the first time, is the subject of negotiations with the Government. Manufacturing rights have been acquired by one of the biggest engineering firms.

The use of this searchlight for various purposes has been discussed, but the discussions obscured its immense importance in air defence and to the Navy.

It is the most powerful searchlight in the world no less than 3,000,000,000 candle power—and it has been reported upon by Air Ministry and War Office experts in emphatically favourable terms. It is as great an advance over existing searchlights as was "steam" or "oil" in shipping. It secures intensity of illumination at a great range.

300 PARALLEL BEAMS

Its secret is the combination of a large reflector of parabolic form, and a mosaic of three hundred small, flat mirrors on a flat disc. The illuminating agent is placed between, and the mirrors convert the familiar cone-shaped beam into 300 parallel beams. A cone-shaped beam could quite easily be projected by this apparatus, but even in this case the waste of light would be negligible.

The loss of light, in fact, is only the unavoidable 5 per cent. in the reflector, and a further 2½ per cent. due to the minute divisions between the mirrors. For many years famous optical firms in France and Germany tried to solve this problem, which was at length overcome by a British inventor. The beam is so powerful that a newspaper five miles from the searchlight can be read in it.

As an anti-aircraft searchlight its value lies in the fact that any pattern can be projected into the sky. Of course, an ordinary searchlight can send a pattern by means of an interposed screen, but only with very great loss of light. By means of the parallel beam searchlight a "grid" pattern can be sent, a chess-board pattern of squares, the dimensions of which being known reveal the height, speed, and direction of an aeroplane caught in the beam. This has been tested to a height of 16,000 feet.

CHANGING THE PATTERN

The pattern can be changed in four seconds to alternative patterns, such as a long, straight line, or a series of lines, or rings. The flat beam can be made to extend sixty degrees, so that if a warship had any need simultaneously to illumine the whole horizon, it could do so with six of these searchlights.

The parallel searchlight beam has the further advantage that it cannot easily be evaded. The ordinary cone-shaped beam can be seen by the pilot of an aeroplane, and can often be avoided or escaped from.

Pilots who have flown in experiments with the new searchlight say that they cannot see the grid until they are inside it, and then they cannot see the next line in front or to right or left. They are like flies caught in a spider's web. In the official experiments it proved so efficient that tests which would in the ordinary way have taken two months were completed in an hour.

It can throw a perfect "flood light" to assist aeroplanes landing at night; and, being mounted on a trolley, it can accompany an air force in the field.

THE GOVERNMENT VACANCY

When the Lord Advocate, Mr. Craigie Aitchison, leaves the Government next month for the Scottish Bench he will not be merely an ordinary member of the Court of Session—or, to give a Scottish judgeship its more honourable title, a Senator of the College of Justice.

His appointment will be as Lord Justice Clerk and President of the Second Division of the Inner House, or Court of Appeal. In precedence he will rank second only to Lord President Clyde.

Like Lord Aitchison, whom he will succeed, Mr. Aitchison is a son of the manse.

SCOTTISH "MARSHALL HALL"

Mr. Aitchison made his name as a criminal lawyer in a series of murder charge defences, and was acclaimed the Scottish Marshall Hall. His forensic style, and even his physical appearance, supported the title.

Like Marshall Hall, he was much happier in defence than in prosecution. Again like Marshall Hall, he has never done himself full justice in the House of Commons. And, of course, since he became National Labour, he has been regarded as "fair game" by his former colleagues, and in particular the Clydesiders.

MK. SHAW IS NOT INTERESTED

In Reichstag Burning Case

London, Sept. 22. George Bernard Shaw today wrote a letter to Miss Ellen Wilkinson, Labour politician, declaring himself opposed to any interference in the Reichstag fire case.

Mr. Shaw repeated his objections in the course of an interview given to the press to-day. He said that the five persons accused at Leipzig were being used by the ringleaders of anti-German propaganda as a means to their own ends and emphasised that these tactics were cruel and inconsiderate towards the accused. If one wanted to really help the prisoners, Mr. Shaw declared, the best policy was to remain passive. All persons now making such demonstrative show of their sympathy for the five accused are the very same ones who some time ago were indignant that the British press should take up a hostile attitude towards the trial of the British engineers at Moscow and should have attacked the Soviet Government. These people, "G.B.S." added, are not even Englishmen.

In a letter read out aloud to the meeting by the chairman of the so-called world committee, to help the Victims of German Fascism, Bernard Shaw, who had been invited, announced his refusal to attend the meeting, putting it on record in writing that he considered that the meeting had no right to interfere in the Reichstag fire trial since the accused are not British subjects.

HUMAN EYE IMITATED

The Iconoscope Television

An interesting development in television, recently announced at a convention held by the Institute of Radio Engineers at Chicago, is explained in "Wireless World."

In a paper by Dr. Vladimir Zworykin, details were given of the "iconoscope" which it is claimed, replaces mechanical scanning and several stages of amplification. Being entirely electrical and with no moving parts it is said to be several thousand times as efficient as the mechanical scanning disk. The iconoscope has the ability to imitate the human eye, in that it can view a picture continuously and possesses a certain degree of retentiveness. It allows the transmission of about 20 complete pictures a second with a detail corresponding to 250 lines to the square inch.

The device would appear to solve one of the most difficult problems of television, that of definition. The efficiency of the scanning disk

AMERICA'S COAST DEFENCES

Army's Experiments With Long Range Guns

CALIBRE 14.16 INCHES: RANGE 25 MILES

Washington—As an aftermath of the practical collapse of the Geneva Disarmament Conference at Geneva the War Department has resumed its experiments looking to further development of large calibre, long range coast defense guns.

The continued existence of the 14 and 16-inch coast defense rifles was threatened at the Geneva Conference by President Hoover's proposal that all mobile heavy artillery and land tanks be prohibited under international agreement. It was not President Hoover's intention that stationary armaments of purely defensive character should be included in the prohibition, but when his proposal came up for discussion by the various delegates at the conference an attempt was made to include all guns of more than 165 millimeters calibre in the prohibited class. This would have meant had the proposal been universally adopted that the United States would have had to scrap practically all its coast defense armaments, not only in the United States but in the fortifications of the Panama Canal Zone, Hawaii and the Philippines.

High officials of the United States Army never believed that the prohibition would be universally adopted, but the uncertainty which hung over all heavy calibre guns caused a practical suspension of experiments and developments with the type of armament. Firing practice with the big guns was almost totally abandoned, partly as a government economy measure, and partly because of this international uncertainty.

Big Guns

This uncertainty has now been removed with the practical collapse of the disarmament conference and the indications that the present administration will oppose any attempt to restrict the effectiveness of the United States coast defense works, and the development of the big guns is again going forward. This development, at the present time, is principally in the field of perfecting firing bases for the guns more suitable mounts for the big mobile railway guns, range-finding apparatus and fire control.

The largest mobile gun found practical for coast defense purposes is the 14-inch rifle which throws a projectile weighing approximately 1,600 pounds. Its maximum range for accurate shooting is approximately 25 miles.

Astonishing Accuracy

The fire of these guns can be controlled with astonishing accuracy up to a distance of 25 miles. Coast Artillery officers declare. If greater range is attempted the ratio of accuracy is reduced rapidly. For this reason Coast Artillery officers believe the development of guns similar to "Big Bertha" of World War fame is unlikely. Such a gun is not practical except for "frank" attacks where moral rather than actual physical destruction is desired, the officials say. The United States Army plans to use bombing planes for long range attacks and bombardments. Aerial bombardments are more easily controlled than long range shelling by artillery, officials state.

"Big Bertha" was a freak gun, constructed for a freak purpose. It fired so heavy a charge of explosive that its firing life was extremely limited. The trajectory of its projectile was so high and the distance so great that accurate firing was impossible. Artillery of recent estimate, one's bombing plane could cause more accurately planned destruction on a single flight against an objective 75 miles distant than could be done with a "big Bertha" during its entire lifetime of firing.

Just now artillery officials are working to increase the mobility of coast defense guns, particularly the 14-inch railway guns and their protective batteries of anti-aircraft guns. An instance of this development was the successful transfer of a whole battery of these big guns from one coast of the Panama Canal Zone to the other in a few hours.

In addition to the development of the mobility of these big guns, experiments are constantly in progress with newer and speedier portable bases for smaller guns such as the 9-inch rifle, the 155 mm. gun and anti-aircraft guns. These are mounted on pneumatic-tired trucks, drawn by tractors or motor trucks, and can be moved about the country at high speed. The trucks are so constructed that they can be "knocked down" in a few moments to provide a solid firing base for the gun.

Speed of mobility rather than increasing calibre of range of artillery is now the watchword.

SCIENTIST SAYS BRAINS ARE DYING OUT

"Family Allowances" For Clever Children To Check
A World Peril

VALUE OF THE STRONG SELF: ASSERTIVE INTEREST

London.—The world scientists who are at Leicester for the conference of the British Association were warned to-day that the declining intelligence in this and other countries is a definite peril
to civilisation.

Dr. C. C. Hurst, of Cambridge, was the speaker in the Psychology section.

Intelligence tests, he said, showed that the intellectual grade of an individual could be measured at a tender age, and normally remained constant from childhood to predict with considerable precision
the grades of future off-spring
that would be produced by parents of any measured grades of intelligence.

Recent statistics showed that in England, the United States of America, France, Holland, and other advanced countries, owing to the rapidly decreasing birthrate of the more intelligent families, the intelligence index of the population, namely, the percentage of the five high grades, was declining so rapidly as to endanger the safety of modern civilisation.

Immediate State action on biological lines was necessary. It was suggested that a scheme of family allowances would solve the problem
rapidly and effectively.

Under such a scheme parents of the five higher grades of intelligence would receive educational and maintenance grants for each of their high grade children.

"Such a scheme would immediately encourage the production of high-grade off-spring," said Dr.
Hurst, "and in the course of a generation the intelligence index of the population would be increased and brought up to the minimum safety line, and higher, if considered necessary."

The relatively small amount required to finance the scheme could be found by transferring a small portion of the large grants now expended on individuals of low and mediocre intelligence, which, in many cases were of doubtful advantage to the State or the individual.

COMMUNITY THINKING

In the same section Dr. William Brown, Wide Reader in Mental Philosophy at Oxford discussed the dangers of modern "community
thinking," and analysed the minds of such leaders as Napoleon, Caesar and "present-day dictators."

There was a tendency more and more, he said, towards group or crowd activities. Community thinking was an example. Unfortunately there was also the tendency
nowadays to have community
thinking.

"People seem to love to band together to do their thinking in public and put themselves under a master, whom they revere and overvalue."

"The leader who is going to move
a nation must have a strong, self-assertive instinct and be completely free from fear. Napoleon lost his power when he showed fear

before Moscow.

"Take a more modern instance.
Many of you must have felt that a certain dictator was destined to succeed when he had to face direct danger—when the bullet actually hit him in the face and he did not show the slightest tremor of fear or deviation in his activities."

"It was the same with Julius Caesar. He had power over his legions, and when they mutinied in Spain he appeared unarmed at the psychological moment and addressed them. This had nothing to do with the spirit of submission; it is the spirit of self-assertion."

But a leader soon found that he had to follow his followers to a certain extent. The followers projected upon the leader their conception of what he ought to be,
and he had to be it.

THREE YEARS' WEATHER FORECAST

It may one day be possible to predict with accuracy the sensational weather on a particular farm for three years out of five.

This interesting opinion was expressed by Professor Sir Gilbert T.
Walker in the Mathematical and Physical Sciences Section.

It was a valid criticism, he agreed, that though a foreshadowing of abundant or scanty rain over a region might be right four times out of five, yet, owing to local variations, the predictions would not at present be successful
when applied to a particular farm.

Improvements in methods would he hoped, have the result he had indicated.

In America the relations of weather and crops had probably been worked out more scientifically than in any other country. In the absence of forecasts, Western farmers had paid a "rainmaker" thousands of dollars at the time actually to produce rain.

A WAR THAT NEVER ENDS

In the Anthropological Section a young scientist, Professor C. Daryll Forde, who has recently returned from an exploration along the Colorado River, described how, on the border between the United States and Mexico, a "gentlemanly" war has been in progress for hundreds of years. These are some of the things he discovered:

There is no surprise attack and there are no guns. Four tribes are involved, and one often sends a messenger to lead a rival tribe into battle.

The leader on one side must fight the opposing leader in single combat; and they use short clubs, spears and bows and arrows.

Professor Forde added that women invariably accompany the warriors to give a scalp dance after the battle, carry the scalps home
and put them in sealed jars.

"A 19TH CENTURY DISEASE"

Parliamentarianism Ended In Germany

Berlin, Sept. 24:
Another speech by Dr. Goebbels Minister of Propaganda, during the campaign against hunger and cold, is given by the Wolf News Agency.

Dr. Goebbels began his address by pleading for the unity of Germany and said the time would come when there would be no further distinction between Bavaria and Prussia.

He renewed his attacks on parlia-mentarianism. "In Germany," he declared, "parliamentarianism will never return. We are cured of this 19th Century disease. It is a mistake to believe that the people want to govern themselves. They think about it only when they are poorly governed and when they find themselves well-governed, they are content to permit themselves to be governed willingly."

Concerning the problem of unemployment, Dr. Goebbels declared that the Government of Hitler had already achieved a third of its task. "If we succeed in solving the problem of unemployment," he declared, "nobody will be able to oppose us. If we do not succeed, our government will not last long. In six months we returned 2,000,000 unemployed to the factories and before the winter is over we will absorb another 2,000,000. Unemployment will be definitely dealt with and we shall have again succeeded in eliminating this economic illness of the present day."

"KING KONG"

Most Fantastic Of
All Films

In Hollywood there is a man who makes the sphinx seem talkative. Not even his employers know his secrets.

He is Willis O'Brien, from Oakland, California—a miracle man who can revive the past! He pulls prehistoric monsters, seventy-five feet long, out of his hat! He makes to-day yesterday—yesterday to-day.

He is the man of the hour on the RKO-Radio lot, for without him that studio's great bid for screen immortality would be impossible. The bid is "King Kong," completed after more than two years of production effort conducted behind locked and guarded stage doors.

For "King Kong" O'Brien conjured, magically, among other things, animals that thrived from seven to thirty-five million years ago, including a tyrannosaurus, a stegosaurus, a brontosaurus and a pterodactyl.

The largest of these, tyrannosaurus, weighed thirty tons, is twenty feet high and measured fifty feet in length. The pterodactyl, a flying reptile, had a wing spread of twenty-five feet.

These, moreover, can be considered mere samples of his ingenuity, for he created an ape fifty feet tall, thirty six feet around the chest and weighing between fifteen and twenty tons!

The story, fantastic one by Merian C. Cooper and Edgar Wallace, is based upon the situation which arises when the mammoth ape becomes fascinated with a beautiful white woman he captures in the jungle. For her he battles prehistoric monsters to the death, and in the end makes an attack upon civilization itself.

The mysterious powers of O'Brien, which are not even known by Merian C. Cooper and Ernest B. Schoedsack, producers and directors of "King Kong" made all that possible.

Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong, Bruce Cabot and Sam Hardy are in the cast. "King Kong" is showing at the Central Theatre to-day.

"THE GOOD COMPANIONS"

How The Film
Was Cast

The casting of "The Good Companions" was a matter demanding a vast amount of consideration in order that the right types should be selected for the various characters of the novel and at the same time to ensure that the requisite amount of star-value was assured for the film. Altogether four weeks was devoted to the task.

Henry Ainley was the first selection for the important role of Less Oakroyd. When he fell ill after three weeks of "shooting," the film had to be restarted with Edmund Gwenn in the "role" of the warm-hearted little Yorkshireman.

The selection of the player for the "role" of Mrs. Jess Oakroyd was a more difficult matter. It called for a woman, forty-ish, possessing a knowledge of the Yorkshire dialect. There wasn't such a person on the books of any of the film or stage agencies, so Victor Saville, the director, went to Yorkshire to find her. In Huddersfield he was introduced to Mrs. Florence Gregson, the wife of a Yorkshire playwright and actor. Mrs. Gregson acted in her husband's plays. She was (dare we mention it) of the age demanded by the script, and she could also speak the necessary dialect. So this solved one of Saville's difficult problems.

The "role" of Onigo Jollifant was not so difficult to settle as John Gielgud had already created this part in the stage version of Priestley's novel.

The choice for the "role" of Susie Dean was made in favour of Jessie Matthews. The player filling this "role" had to have a good singing voice, be able to act, and also understand film technique. Miss Matthews had all these qualifications.

The banjo is not played a great deal these days, and the necessity of getting a player for the "role" of Morton Mitcham who combined acting ability with musical talent in this direction also presented a problem. Fortunately Percy Paragon stepped into the breach.

"The Parsons stepped into the ing to-day at the King's Theatre."

IN THE MOVIES

The four periods of life through which Sylvia Sidney passes in the Paramount production of Dreiser's novel, JENNET GERHARDT, were reproduced through subtle suggestion by Walter Westmore, Paramount's studio make-up artist.

The passing of the six years from 1904 to 1910 and the insinuation of gradual ageing has been made entirely by slightly padding her clothing to give her a little heavier appearance. It is the next period of 1923 that "make-up" is first resorted to and this was all done (Continued on next column).

Lillian Harvey starring in with subtle highlights and shadows so as to give a suggestion of a drooping and sagging of the face.

The greying of the hair was not resorted to until the last period of 1933 was reached. With it came a further development of light and shadow effects in order to add still another ten years of the journey through life. The net result is one of great naturalness rather than forced staginess.

thing like a hundred cigarettes a day. His favourite habit when nervous was to pull this holder apart and put it together again.

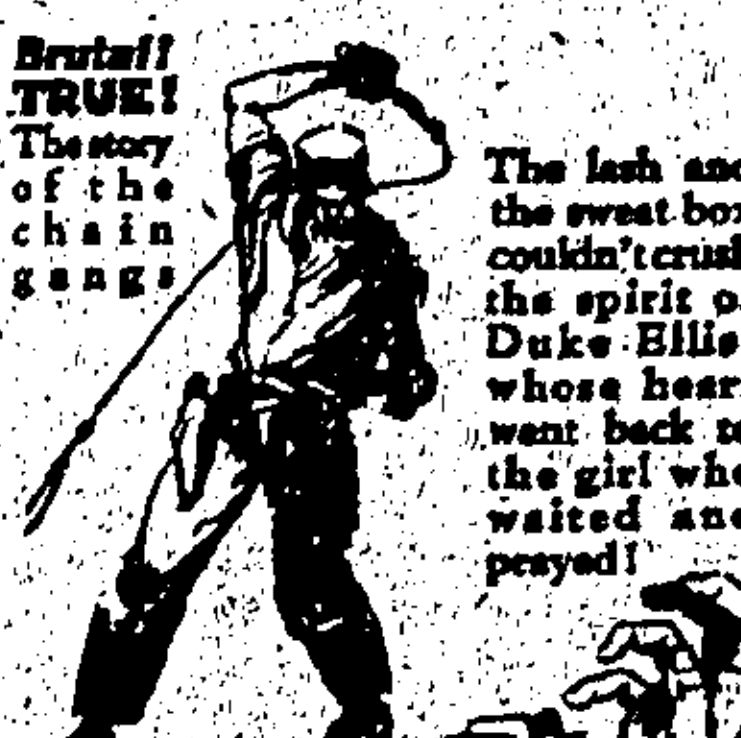

John Barrymore enacts the romantic Prince Chegodieff in "Rasputin and the Empress," and Lionel is seen as the Mad Monk. The role of the Czar is filled by Ralph Morgan and the cast also features Diana Wynyard, Tad Alexander and C. Henry Gordon.

MY LIPS BETRAY

Coming to the King's Next Tuesday 10th

"My Lips Betray" has been called the Love Parade of 1933. This is another of the Fox successes, and with John Boles and Lillian Harvey in the leads you are guaranteed splendid entertainment. We were fortunate to be able to witness the private showing, and find it difficult to say to whom the honours should go. El Brendel as the King's chauffeur was most amusing, and strikes quite a figure riding around the town in the company of a very pretty young lady none other than the charming Lillian Harvey, who hardly needs and introduction to theatre fans. If you saw her in "Happy Ever After," and were delighted with her dainty dancing and singing she will appeal to you even more so, as the little Miss who is supposed to be the King's favourite and had never set eyes on his Majesty. The gossips had seen riding in the King's car with his chauffeur and as all gossips go they were sure she was the favourite. This notoriety was the means of her soaring to fame, and she falls in love with the ruler of Ruthania, and ends up by becoming his Queen. John Boles is at his best and makes a decided hit as the handsome young King, whose mother wishes him to marry royalty, but he ends up by marrying the girl of his choice. Momma Watchek played by Maude Eburne is wonderful as the boarding house keeper, and almost steals the honours from the leading players who happen to be stars in their own right. It is a musical treat and the setting for this picture is equal to the "Love Parade" in which Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier delighted so many thousands of theatre fans all over the world. Do not miss it when it is shown at the King's Theatre next Tuesday. The cast is as follows:—

Lillian Harvey
John Boles
El Brendel
Queen Mother... Irene Brendel
Momma Watchek, Maude Eburne
De Conti... Henry Stephenson
Weinger... Herman Bing

ETHEL BARRYMORE AS CZARINA

A Gown That Weighs
25 Pounds

Reproducing royalty on the talking screen has its difficulties. Ethel Barrymore, for instance, in playing the part of an empress, wears a gown that weighs twenty-five pounds.

This is a replica of the ceremonial gown of the late Czarina of Russia, worn in the great cathedral ceremony of "Rasputin and the Empress," in which Miss Barrymore makes her first joint screen appearance with her two celebrated brothers, John and Lionel. The picture is now showing at the Queen's.

The gown of the Czarina, hand wrought by Russian women, was an elaborate affair of white and silver brocade, worn with the famous diadem which was also duplicated for the scene.

Other reproductions designed for this episode were those of the uniform, jewelry and even the cigarette-holder of the late Czar. The cigarette-holder was famous. It resembled a small pipe and in it the Russian emperor smoked some (Continued on previous column).

ECHOES OF 1859

16.—A Cruel Scene At the Jail

(March 8th, 1859).

The two miserable convicts Jones and Gibbons suffered the extreme penalty of the law upon the scaffold yesterday morning. Jones never attempted to exculpate himself but persisted to the last in endeavouring to inculpate innocent parties against whom he harboured feelings of animosity. Gibbons declared to the last his innocence, nor does there appear to have been any additional evidence obtained against him since his trial, either from his own lips or from those of his fellow prisoners.

One of those scenes so discordant to the feelings of humanity and of which this colony has been so repeatedly the arena, occurred at this execution—we mean the inefficiency of the hangman.

In hanging a man the object to be attained is the dislocation of the neck when death of course is instantaneous. It repeatedly happens that failing in this object, death occurs by strangulation.

According to civilized notions, the infliction of such a death is considered barbarous inhumanity, and there can be no doubt that unless executions by hanging could be conducted with certainty in a proper manner, that our legislature should substitute some other mode of capital punishment. It is true that the services of a professional hangman cannot be procured in this colony, but there must be certain directions laid down to provide for such emergencies, and if there be, we have no hesitation in recording our opinion that the party whose office it is to see that those directions are carried out, is most reprehensibly lacking in his duties, and should be called to instant and severe account.

Strangulation by hanging, has hitherto formed the rule, and not the exception in this Colony. Over and over again have the press denounced in no measured language the revolting scenes which have occurred on the Hong Kong scaffold, but never has it been our lot to hear the recital of such another scene as occurred yesterday morning. The convict Jones was released from his pains pretty speedily, but Gibbons continued to writhe and breath hard for a quarter of an hour to some accounts and half an hour according to others.

We are relating what we have heard on undoubted authority. We speak in the name of humanity and civilization, and we conscientiously believe that until an example be made of the responsible parties, such scenes will be of continued occurrence.

IN CHINESE TEMPLES

Where Picnic Parties Are Welcomed

By A SCOTSWOMAN IN CHINA

Readers of Ann Bridge's novel, "Peking Picnic," will remember that the plot is centred in a group of people who go for a week-end picnic to a temple in the hills near Peking.

Chinese temples are favourite picnicking places for us Westerners, and the readiness with which the temple authorities welcome such visitations is always a marvel to the newcomer. One reason for this is probably to be found in the custom, which takes us back to Mediaeval Europe, of the temples having a guest room, where the native gentry were housed for holidays, and whose priests found the travellers' gifts of "tea-money" a good source of income.

SOOTHING PLEASANCES

Temples are usually situated in sheltered, hilly spots, where the freshness of the air, the soft shade of the trees the music of the little roof bells tinkling in the wind, and the fine view over mountain and plain, are soothing and restful after the harsh, dry heat, or cold of the North China plains.

The more elaborate picnics are of the week-end or "stay-the-night" variety. For these, since temple rooms contain only a wooden table, benches, and perhaps a brick "kang" or platform for a bed, a "boy" is sent ahead with camp beds, bedding, deck chairs, and a supply of tinned foods, dishes, and cutlery. It is always easy to buy chickens, eggs and fruit, and the most civilised meals can be served on such expeditions.

IN THE SOCIAL NEWS

Nowadays many Peking residents rent rooms in these Buddhist sanctuaries for long, or short periods. The social column of the Peking foreign press faithfully chronicles the doings of these temple-dwellers. "Mrs. So-and-so is entertaining at her temple during the week-end," or "Mr. and Mrs. Jones have gone to spend the summer at their temple in the Western Hills."

The famous Wo Fo Shu (Temple of the Sleeping Buddha) in these hills near Peking is now the out-of-town headquarters of the Y.M.C.A. Guests are taken there, and a restaurant in charge of a Chinese cook provides good Western meals.

CANDID BEARERS

The informal picnic is enjoyed in many a temple in North China. The party sets out on donkeys, in rickshas, or in mountain chairs. Very often the temples are at the summit of quite high hills, and the pilgrim-way consists of hundreds of stone steps up the hillside—the work of past generations. The chair-bearers are agile and sure-footed, and often as they climb they sing a road-song. Legend has it that a Western lady once insisted on having a translation of her chair-bearers' song. She discovered to her chagrin and amusement that it was an impromptu effort, referring in no complimentary terms to the "great fat pig" which they were carrying, and which got heavier every moment.

If one happens to picnic on a "pilgrim day" one is amazed to see the number of worshippers which throngs these decayed precincts of Buddhism. In one temple where there is a Goddess of Birth the pilgrim days bring crowds of women of all ages, who come for miles toiling across the plains and up the hillside on their tiny bound feet to pray for sons and grandsons. It is a well-to-do avoid such days, for even on ordinary occasions one experiences the truth of the saying that in the East one has the privacy of a goldfish in a bowl. One inevitably collects a crowd, and it is a matter of congratulation if that crowd is confined to half a dozen of the tatterdemalion women and children who are always ransacking the hills for fuel.

CURIOUS PHENOMENON

"Does some one pay you to carry your food here to eat?" An old Chinese man once asked us. He had hovered round us for long before venturing to make friends. His incredulity and astonishment were great when we tried to explain that this was our way of amusement. As he took himself off we heard his voice in the distance exclaiming on the phenomenon to the chair-bearers on the steps "No money! Not one copper cash. It's a game!"

JAPANESE FARM TRAGEDY

Hot-Tempered Man Kills His Mother

Tokyo.—In a fit of anger, Shichi Abe (31), a farmer's son of Ogose, Saitama Prefecture, cut his 48-year-old mother on the arm with a sword and then drove the weapon into her heart, causing her instant death. His ferocity still unassuaged, he wounded his father who attempted to seize him, the terrible scene being lighted by the blaze of the paper screen to which he had set fire. After a hard fight the unruly son was overpowered by neighbours while the fire was also put out before extending seriously. Pierce arguments between the parents and the son due to home trouble apparently led to his ungovernable outburst.

YOUR VIEWS AND MINE!

A Weekly Column of Local Gossip

By "The Scout"

KOWLOON'S REPRESENTATIVE BACK

The Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga returned to the Colony last week looking very fit after a holiday of six weeks in Shanghai and Japan. Mr. Braga, as is generally known, is an extremely busy man, and the strain of his numerous engagements made it imperative for him to have a short holiday—away from the desk and telephone! He has returned to the Colony at a most propitious time and as the Kowloon representative on the Legislative Council, he is sure to speak on behalf of Kowloon residents upon the Budget recently presented by Government. It will be interesting to see what Mr. Braga thinks of the new Kowloon Post Office and the re-establishment of a flying school at Kai Tak.

KEEN RACEGOER

Mr. Braga is a keen supporter of local racing and although he does not own a stable, his knowledge of China ponies is amazing and one of the foremost racing men told me recently that he thought Mr. Braga one of the best judges of horses in Hong Kong. He is present at all race meetings and, to use a racing parlance, is "pretty hot with his tips." Incidentally Mr. Braga is a very old resident of the Colony and can recall the time when the Race Course looked very different from what it is to-day.

KEEN SCOUT PASSES

News was received in the Colony recently of the death in Persia of Mr. Hassan Nemazee, who was a former pupil of St. Joseph's College and of the University. Mr. Nemazee will be remembered by his many friends here as a keen Scout while at St. Joseph's College and at the University he was very popular. He was a Bachelor of Science and a particularly sad feature of his early death was that he was just about to take up an engineering post with the Persian Government when he died. His many friends will join me in extending sympathy to his relatives.

POLICE SEARCHES

While the Chinese population were celebrating their mid-autumn festival, the police authorities were on the qui vive for trouble. Trampers were boarded on Wednesday night and passengers searched. While the average person would not unreasonably resent being searched, the manner in which the Police proceeded about it must have reduced such resentment to a minimum, since the searches consisted of a mere tap at the breast and side pockets followed by a polite "Thank You." A few years ago, similar searches were regularly made of tram passengers, but on those occasions the person searched was required to put up his hands, and the process was sometimes more thorough than gentle.

WELSH HUMOUR

Dr. Vaughan Thomas who addressed the Rotary Club on Tuesday, gave some excellent examples of the length to which Welsh names can go, and also took the opportunity to treat his audience to some examples of Welsh humour. Here's one of them: A Welshman was giving a lecture on "The Devil." His command of the English language not being extensive, he explained that he wanted to speak on three aspects of the devil, namely, "Who the devil he is?" "Where the devil he comes from?" and "What the devil he wants?"

CASH SWEEPS EVIL

An instance of how badly cash sweeps in the Colony can be conducted was brought to my attention last week. Apparently the institution running the sweep kept within the limit of commission allowed them by the police, but when the lucky drawers of prizes presented their tickets to be cashed, they were told that the club expected a rebate of ten per cent. People who suddenly come into several thousand dollars do not mind paying a few hundred to be able to get their money without trouble, but if some of the victims are lucky enough to bring the matter to the attention of the authorities, they will be doing a really good turn. There are several properly conducted sweeps available.

to the public and the less we hear of the others, the better!

THE HOLIDAYS

We commence our stretch of holidays to-day and business will not be resumed in the Colony until Wednesday. There will be pretty full programme to while away the time, the races being fixed for to-day and Tuesday while the lawn bowls interport is on the same day. Footballers and cricketers will have a busy weekend, and the interport swim is on Monday. I suppose instead of feeling cool and refreshed on Wednesday, the younger members of the community will be weary and sore after their holiday exertions. Incidentally, the Hong Kong Bank will be moved from its present house to the City Hall, during the holidays; so that if you should have anything to do with the bank on Wednesday, don't forget, the City Hall is the place!

"VICTORIA HOME" TO MOVE

I understand that owing to the resumption of the site by the government, the Victoria Home, and Orphanage in Kowloon City will be moved in the near future and that the new site will be near the riding school in Kowloon City. Under the Chairmanship of Bishop Hall, a tentative Anglo-Chinese Committee has been appointed to consider the expansion of this institution.

A Health Campaign Class for the purpose of training volunteers to work among the poorer classes in the slum districts of the Colony has recently been formed by the local Y.M.C.A. I hear that so far 43 volunteers have registered. The doctors who have undertaken to lecture to the volunteers are:—
Dr. F. I. Tseng who is to lecture on Infectious Diseases and their Prevention; Dr. S. C. Chan, on outlines of anatomy and physiology; Dr. T. C. Yip, on physical examination and first aid and Dr. H. H. Tai, on personal, domestic and school hygiene.
This laudable scheme deserves every success.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

$1,800 For Opium Addicts

At next Thursday's meeting of the Finance Committee of the Legislative Council Supplementary estimates to a total of $18,000 will be presented. An item of $1,800 is for medical treatment of opium addicts.

Full details follow:—
Charitable Services $1,500
It is not possible to foresee in advance what the demands will be on this vote, heavier than usual and the vote has been exhausted. A supplementary vote of $1,500 is therefore requested.

Tsun Wan Water Supply.
Public Works Extraordinary—
New Territories. Water Works.
Water Supply at Tsun Wan $8,000.
Provision made in Estimates 20,000.

When the 1933 Estimates were prepared, a provisional estimate only of the cost of this work had been made. It was subsequently ascertained that the total cost would be $28,000, i.e. $8,000 more than the original tentative estimate. Finance Committee which was consulted at the time agreed to this additional expenditure and a formal vote for the excess of $8,000 is now requested.

Opium Addicts.

Medical Department:—

Treatment of Opium Addicts $1,300.

In accordance with Article IX of the Final Act of the Bangkok Opium Conference, dealing with the care of Opium Addicts, Government arranged with the Tung Wah Hospital Committee to set aside certain beds for the treatment of such cases, and undertook to reimburse the Committee in respect of its expenses. For the period 19th June to 31st August, 1933, the expenses amounted to $403.50. The estimated expenditure for the remainder of the year is $886.50.

No provision for such expenditure has been made and a supplementary vote for $1,300 therefore requested.

Black Maria.

Prison Department:—

Special Expenditure, Cross-leys Chassis $2,900.

It is proposed to equip the Prison Department with a motor van for the transport of prisoners between Victoria and Lai Chi Kok Gaols via the Vehicular Ferries. At present the cross harbour transfer is effected by launch and the proposed new arrangements will result in a considerable saving of annual charges in addition to which the launch will be released for other services, rendering the purchase of a new Infectious Cases launch for the Sanitary Department (for which the current estimates provide $50,000) unnecessary.

Vehicle Drivers and Suspicious Characters.

Police Force, Photograph $2,500.
The contract rate for photographing vehicle drivers, suspicious characters and prisoners is considerably higher than originally estimated. In addition to the increased cost, more photographic work has been found necessary.

FATAL LORRY ACCIDENT

Chinese Who Fell Off And Was Killed

Whilst riding in a lorry along Murray Road at about 7.45 a.m. on September 15, last, a Chinese named Chan See-wing lost his balance and fell off. He sustained serious injuries and was removed to the Government Civil Hospital where he subsequently succumbed.
There was a sequel to the incident at Central Magistracy yesterday when Mr. W. Schofield, sitting as Coroner, held an inquiry into the man's death. He was assisted by a jury comprised of Messrs. J. E. Macdonald (foreman), T. P. Tong and F. H. Farnie.
Dr. G. H. Thomas gave medical evidence and after two other witnesses had gone into the box, the inquiry was adjourned.

THE WATER SUPPLY

Reservoirs Nearly Full

The P.W.D. water return for October 1st shows a total Island storage of 9,042.77 million gallons. At the same time last year, when the reservoirs were practically full the storage was 2,931 million gallons.

Ty-tam Tak is still 13 ft. 10 ins. below overflow, but contains 1,102 m.g. as against a total capacity of 1,420 m.g. All the other reservoirs are full, except the small one at Wong Nei Chung, which is 7 m.g. below capacity.

During the month 73.75 m.g. were received from the mainland. The consumption of water during the month in Hong Kong was 255 m.g. working at 22.1 gallons per head per day.

THE MAINLAND.

The Mainland reservoirs are full, holding a total storage of 719.73 million gallons (Kowloon Main 333 m.g.).

Total consumption of water was 203 m.g. which works out at 21.8 gallons per head per day. Last year's figure was 19.1.

MR. BISHEN SINGH

Tribute From A Former Pupil

Mr. Bishen Singh, a leading member of the Sikh community, who has been, for nearly thirty years a school master at the Indian School will be leaving the Colony next week and his departure is an opportune moment to recall the work he has done in the Colony.

Soon after his arrival Mr. Bishen Singh joined the Education Department, and was for a time in charge of the Anglo-Indian School, with a handful of pupils. He has stayed with it ever since, watching its growth and progress until in spite of the fact that the school is now housed in a modern building at Sookpoo, it has become necessary to turn away pupils.

Most of the younger members of the Indian Community in Hong Kong, have at one time or another been pupils of Mr. Bishen Singh and by them, the retiring schoolmaster is held in esteem and respect.

Services To The I.R.C.

Mr. Bishen Singh took a great interest in the Indian Recreation Club, becoming a member when the institution was in its infancy, and it was not long before he was made a Vice-President of the institution. In his younger days he took an active interest in tennis, and latterly his advice has been much appreciated by the Club's committee.

In the activities of his own community, Mr. Bishen Singh held a high place, and worshippers at the Sikh Temple have much for which they have to thank him.

With The Police Reserve

A keen Police Reservist, Mr. Bishen Singh served in that body throughout the War, doing very valuable duty in the Colony when most of the regulars had been called away. When the Reservists were formed again after the Strike of 1925, Mr. Bishen Singh was made Commissioner of the Indian section, and his departure will leave a gap in the ranks of the Reservists which will not be easily filled.

Mr. Bishen Singh's hobby is gardening, and it was thanks to his enterprise and initiative that many varieties of fruits and vegetables were at one time grown at the Indian School.

He is returning to his native country after many years in Hong Kong in the service of the Government, and his friends will wish him a long and happy retirement.

FORECASTING THE WEATHER

Help From Wireless

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE REPORT

London.
The amount of meteorological information broadcast from all countries continues to increase rapidly and new sources of information are constantly becoming available.

In the annual report of the Director of the Meteorological Office stated that during the latter part of the year "messages transmitted from Horta, in the Azores, three times a day have been received fairly regularly. These messages contain a number of observations from ships in the Atlantic which have frequently proved to be of considerable importance and utility."

During the year it was learnt that Russia was broadcasting a synoptic message each morning containing observations made at 0100 local mean time. These reports are now regularly received and plotted on the weather map containing 0100 G.M.T. observations. Reception of the international synoptic of messages issued from Paris, Hamburg, and Moscow, which were referred to in detail last year, has continued to be on the whole satisfactory. Reception from America has been less good, but considering the long range of transmission it was quite as satisfactory as could be fairly expected.

Success has attended the reorganization of the work of the Forecast Division, by which the whole of the weather forecasting, whether for aviation, shipping or the general public, was last year transferred to this division. As expected, it has been necessary to retain two types of working charts, one, which is mainly used for general forecasts, taking in a large area, and one of a smaller area on a larger scale on which more detailed information can be entered for aviation. The former of the two working charts has been increased in size so that the area of the map now includes a portion of Labrador and of Newfoundland, and extends from the American coast in the west to beyond the Ural Mountains in the east.

ADVICE ON FLIGHTS

The increasing use of the aeroplane as a means of rapid transport by Royalty, members of the Cabinet, and high officials is reflected in the increasing demands for special forecasts before such flights are undertaken. In spite of the numerous broadcasts of information on flying conditions which are now made in code from the Air Ministry and by wireless telephony from the Heston Air Port, the number of inquiries from civilian and Royal Air Force pilots for information for individual flights continues to grow. The number of general inquiries also shows a large increase.

Information was supplied to members of the Houston Mount Everest Expedition regarding the best period for the year for a flight over Mount Everest and the meteorological conditions likely to be encountered. A special meteorological organization was also brought into operation for the non-stop flight of the Fairley Napier monoplane from England to South Africa. The details regarding the route were collated by the meteorological staff at Cratwell and detailed information regarding conditions along the route supplied to the pilots.

A considerable amount of data was supplied to the Directorate of Civil Aviation, including reports for projected new air routes by Imperial Airways on the southern side of the Persian Gulf and between Calcutta and Australia.

HONG KONG, OCTOBER 7, 1933.

THE BOWLS INTERPORT

No traditional ceremony marks the opening to-day of the series of lawn bowls matches between Hong Kong and Shanghai. These interport encounters were started in 1918 when a team from Hong Kong travelled to Shanghai, and since that time they have been held from year to year, each port visiting the other in turn. This year, it is Shanghai's turn to be our guests and while the bowling clubs in the Colony are extending every form of hospitality to the visitors, the Shanghai men have upheld the tradition of their predecessors in interport lawn bowls, and made their presence welcome wherever they have been.

Between the years 1918 and 1928, the visiting team had always been beaten, and it was not until 1927 that R. C. Aitkenhead, who skippered the Shanghai team, defeated Hong Kong on our soil. The next year, however, A. M. Holland led Hong Kong's team to victory in Shanghai, winning a hard fought match by a single point. Up to the end of 1929, Shanghai and Hong Kong had both won six matches. It was then that the suggestion was made that instead of the interport being decided by a single match, a series of three matches should be played in these contests. Both sides approved the suggestion and it was adopted in 1930, when Hong Kong visited Shanghai. The Northerners won the first series, taking two out of the three matches. In 1931, Shanghai, under T. G. Main (who is again leading them this year), playing in Hong Kong, won two out of the three matches. Last year Hong Kong visited Shanghai and avenged their defeat by winning all three matches.

Lawn bowls is a comparatively new game in the Colony. Fifteen years ago, only a few of the sporting clubs took any interest in bowls, but its popularity grew rapidly and there is now both a junior and a senior league, and matches, like that to be decided to-day generally draw quite a large number of spectators. It is, in fact, a pity that the first and second interport fixtures clash with the Holiday race meetings, dividing the allegiance of many enthusiasts.

The first Hong Kong team to visit Shanghai consisted of W. G. Gerrard, C. Bond, D. Harvey and W. Russell. Gerrard was a great pioneer of lawn bowls in Hong Kong, and played for Hong Kong until 1922. Other names that occur in the records of the earlier interport games are W. Wotherpoon, R. Wallace, P. Farrell, R. Hall, D. Gow and R. Lapsley. Several of these players are still taking part in league matches, but with the exception of R. Hall, none of them have again found their way into the interport team. Bowls is sometimes regarded as an "old men's game," but a good many people take it up on abandoning football, and several leading players are quite young men who have developed a great interest in the game, and have shown surprising ability in league competitions.

Of the Shanghai team, Richards, Malcolm and Main are no strangers here. It was fourteen years ago that "Sandy" Malcolm first visited Hong Kong as an interporter, and he had the honour of being a member of Aitkenhead's team, the first to win on foreign soil. He has visited Hong Kong many times and during the past week has renewed many old acquaintanceships. We wish him every success in the present visit and he will be selected to represent Shanghai for many years to come. C. Richards is also no stranger here, his first visit being in 1927. Richards is a very keen player and his many friends in Hong Kong see in him, the typical lawn bowler, and although he is a grandfather, Richards can give a game to the best exponents in the Colony. T. G. Main, the managing-player of the visiting side, is on his third visit to the Colony, his first being in 1925, and his second in 1931, when Shanghai won two out of three matches. He is extremely popular, and his selection as manager of the visiting side has given great satisfaction, not only to his

AN ILLEGAL BISHI

Claim On Promissory Note Dismissed

Judgment for defendant, without costs was the decision given by the Puisne Judge, Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Supreme Court this morning, in the case in which an Indian moneylender and others yesterday claimed $150 from colleagues on a "bishi" Promissory Note.

Mr. F. C. Loseby for Furan Singh and Qutab Din put forward a plea of illegality.

Mr. Leo D'Almeida, instructed by Mr. A. el Arculi appeared for plaintiffs Hazouza Singh, the remaining defendant conducting his own case.

Giving judgment His Lordship said: "In this action Mr. Singh, suing on his own behalf and on that of all other members, (excepting the defendants) of the Indian Co-operative Credit Society, agents for No. 12 bishi, claims $150 due to the Society under a Promissory Note signed by the defendants.

In my opinion the claim cannot be maintained. The plaintiffs are on the horns of a dilemma: they cannot sue as principals because it is clear that they are an association of more than 20 persons formed for the purpose of carrying on business that has for its purpose the acquisition of gain, and as such is illegal. They are therefore driven to sue as agents, but as submitted by Mr. Loseby they are met by an insuperable difficulty. In this case in which the agency was entrusted to the whole body of the members of the Society jointly, it is not open to Mr. Singh and certain other members of the Society to claim to exercise that agency. "This being so it is unnecessary for me to decide the further points as to whether or not an illegal association can effectively act as agents for a legal principal but I find it hard to see how an association, the formation of which the law forbids, can by clothing itself in the legality of its principals, divest itself of its own illegality."

Judgment for defendant, each party to pay its own costs.

SOVIET BLAMED

For Alleged Sabotage Policy

Harbin, Oct. 6. Li Shao Keng issued a statement to the press yesterday evening, blaming the Soviet officials employed by the Chinese Eastern Railway for their alleged sabotage policy.

Mr. Li declared Manchukuo demanded the removal of the seals and the unlocking of the private office of the detained accountant, M. Kublei. Otherwise, he stated, Manchukuo would take the necessary steps to obtain this, even if it was necessary to obtain police assistance.

Mr. Li Shao Keng is again holding a press conference at 9 a.m. to-day, when an important declaration is anticipated—Reuter.

CHUNG ON STREET SALE

"I have never put up property at such a ridiculously low price," remarked Mr. L. Lammert at his auction rooms on Thursday when a sale of real estate opened at $1,000.

The very first bid, however, brought the figure to $3,000 and it reached $5,100 before being knocked down to a Mr. Chow Yang. The property has an area of about 1,400 sq. ft. and is known as No. 5 Chung On Street. It was put up for auction through the fore-closing of a mortgage. Messrs. Russ & Co. acted for the vendors.

colleagues but to those in Hong Kong who saw him leading Shanghai to victory in 1931. W. A. Bailey, J. M. C. Lopes and G. M. P. Remedios are making their first visit to the Colony and from what has been seen of them, lawn bowlers can only express the hope that they will be included in the visiting side in future years. All are keen bowlers and good sportsmen. Naturally Hong Kong people hope for the success of their own side. But bowls is one of the games which preserves the old tradition that the play is more than the result. Good fellowship, and taking the chance instead of playing for safety, are still the characteristics of this ancient game, which shows such astonishing vitality and grows in popularity, equally at home in England and in such distant places as Hong Kong and Shanghai.

FATAL FIGHT AT WANCHAI

Manslaughter Charge Against M.D.C. Phillips

Douglas Churchill Phillips, described as a marine engineer, faced the serious charge of the manslaughter of Suleif Hamis, an African, when he appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at Central Magistrate's Court yesterday.

It is alleged that Phillips came into conflict with the African at about 1.30 a.m. last Wednesday, as a result of which the latter was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital, where he died later the same day.

Mr. R. H. Cole of Messrs. Geo. K. Hall Brutton & Co., appeared for the defence but he did not plead, although he made an application for bail.

Detective Inspector Chester Woods, who prosecuted said that Capt. Kirby who was in Court was willing to sign a bond for $1,000, and as this was agreeable to the prosecution, the Magistrate granted Mr. Cole's application.

Mr. Schofield: Is the hearing likely to be long?

Resp. Chester Woods: It is not likely to take more than one afternoon. It will be a case for commitment.

Mr. Cole: The defence are anxious to get the case on as soon as possible.

His Worship: I asked because I am leaving the Colony on November 4.

Accused was remanded for a week on bail of $1,000.

KOWLOON CHESS CLUB

The Annual meeting of the Kowloon Chess Club took place yesterday, being presided over by Mr. G. Franklin Nightingale. There was a good attendance of members present.

In the course of his speech Mr. Nightingale congratulated C. M. Sequeira on winning the Chess Championship this year and also complimented the Committee on the successful season they had just completed. He thanked Mr. B. Paul for the work he had done for the Club during the year.

One of the features of the year's chess, was the visit of Dr. Alekhine, who gave two brilliant exhibitions in Hongkong and afforded local chess players an opportunity to see what a good player was really like. The newly elected officers are as follows:

President: Mr. G. F. Nightingale.
Vice-President: Mr. J. S. Smith.
Hon. Secretary: Mr. A. D. Sequeira.
Hon. Treasurer: Dr. Matthews.
Captain: Mr. C. M. Sequeira.
Committee: Messrs. B. Soltan, C. E. Wong and B. Paul.
The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks for the Chairman.

DR. SHELDRAKE AT SHELLY ST. MOSQUE

At the conclusion of Friday Prayers at the Mosque at No. 30, Shelly Street, to-day, Dr. Sheldrake, the life President of the Western Islamic Association, London, a noted Muslim scholar who arrived here on Monday on a lecture tour to the Far East delivered a lecture in English on "Brotherhood" amongst a large gathering.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

One case of enteric was reported on Thursday.

There will be no meeting of the Rotary Club next Tuesday—the "Double Tenth."

Owing to pressure of space our Macao Supplement has been held over until Monday's issue.

Mr. G. C. Pelham, the recently appointed Trade Commissioner in Hong Kong, and Commercial Secretary to the British Legation in China, arrived in the Colony from Shanghai. Mr. Pelham is accompanied by Mrs. Pelham and their child.

Chau Chiu, unemployed, who entered a girl's school in Caine Road by crawling through the fan-light was sent to prison for two weeks by Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court yesterday, for stealing two fountain pens, an ink pot and six sausages from the school. The defendant had a previous conviction for stealing away.

WORK FOR CHILDREN

Bazaar in Aid of Funds

With the laudable object of collecting funds for the Children's Hospital and Orphanage, a charity bazaar was held at the Precious Blood Convent, Shamshuipo, yesterday afternoon.

The place was gaily decorated with flags and pennants, and inside numerous stalls attracted the visitors. Most of the stalls, thanks to the thoughtfulness of the organisers, contained useful articles at genuine bargain prices and the bazaar well worth a visit, the more so since the money is urgently required to assist the sick children of poor people in the district.

Mr. Ngan Shing Kwan, the Hon. President of the Bazaar, welcome the guests in a short speech and called upon Lady Pollock to declare the Bazaar open. Lady Pollock is the Patroness of the Bazaar and in a brief address complimented the Convent on the good work they are doing and on the results achieved.

An Appeal for the Children.

The Hon.-President, Mr. R. C. H. Lim, in thanking Lady Pollock for performing the opening of the bazaar, said that there was something particularly appealing about a child in sickness or distress—nobody can resist the mute pleading of small victims of economic or physical ills.

One of the chief efforts locally towards helping the little ones whose circumstances made them victims of pitiful want, had been the establishing of a hospital and clinic for destitute children at Shamshuipo by the Chinese Sisters of the Precious Blood with the help of the Hong Kong Society for the Protection of Children, and the valuable assistance of Dr. J. H. McElney, Dr. Y. Y. Tang, and Dr. H. D. Matthews. This hospital had taken care of hundreds of the little ones, and tended many until health had been restored. The good work was necessarily expanding with the great growth of population. The call was urgent. Even the present effort was taxed to the limit of capacity, both of accommodation and funds. The drain on a meagre exchequer was great.

During the year ending June, 1932, number of in-patients recorded was 601 and that of out-patients, 1,500, while during the year ending June last, there were 875 in-patients and 1,543 out-patients. The average number of attendance of out-patients was now maintained at 50 per day.

Making Good Citizens.

The number of orphans now in the Convent, said Mr. Lim, is 28. They are all in good health and occasionally picnic were held for their enjoyments. In addition to the fact that there is a school in the Convent to educate them, they are taught a useful trade so that when they grow up they have a sure chance of earning a living. Most of the knitted and embroidered articles to be disposed of at the Bazaar were the skilful work of these poor children.

Following the opening ceremony a group photograph was taken, His Lordship, Bishop Valorta being included in the picture. A very good programme of music was rendered during the afternoon and quite a large number of people visited the Bazaar which will remain open to-day and to-morrow.

The lecture was very much appreciated by the congregation. Mr. U. Rumliah, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Mosque presided.

A second lecture on the "Islam in the West" will also be delivered in English in the said Mosque on Sunday next the 8th instant at 2.30 p.m. at the special request of the congregation.

Dear Sir, In connection with the appeal for the Blind Girl's picnic which you so kindly published on September 23rd, I wish to say that I have received the sum of $66 in donations and the offer of 8 cars. BUS SCHEDULE FAILURE

China Motor Bus Co. Fined $50.

Ngan Shing-kwan, the manager of the China Motor Bus Company, was summoned before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday for having failed to run a bus according to schedule from Blake Pier to the University at 8.35 a.m. on October 2.
Traffic Sergeant McInnis said that no explanation had been given. He went to the garage to see whether there was a breakdown, but no such report had been made. He went to the Company's office and they could give no excuse. People were sitting in the bus at Blake Pier from 8.35 a.m. to 8.50 a.m. During this period three buses should have run.
Mr. Schofield imposed a fine of $50.

THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

GERMAN SUGGESTIONS TO BE DISCUSSED

France Reported To Be Very Perturbed

London, Oct. 6. German views on the result of the recent Disarmament conversations were communicated to Sir John Simon, the Foreign Secretary, by the German Charge d'Affaires, Sir John later received the French and Italian Ambassadors to whom he communicated the German suggestions.

Prospects for the German plan are somewhat prejudiced by the fact that France was very perturbed because Germany exchanged views in that connection with Britain before communicating with France and Italy.

Germany will be represented by Dr. Madolny, her Ambassador to Moscow, at next week's League Disarmament discussions when the German suggestions will be discussed by all delegations.—Reuter.

Prince Bismarck And Sir John

London, Oct. 6. Contrary to some anticipations it now seems certain that the disarmament Conference Bureau will meet in Geneva on October 9.

Capt. Anthony Eden will depart for that place to-morrow while Sir John Simon will follow on Tuesday, but nothing in connection with further Disarmament negotiations is likely until his arrival.

Prince Bismarck, First Secretary of the German Embassy met Sir John Simon in the Foreign Office this morning, surmised in connection with the German reply.—Reuter.

Geneva, October 6. The German counter proposals to the Anglo-Franco-Italian latest Disarmament proposals are more in the nature of additions or supplementary suggestions and details are not yet known here.

The reaction, however, is said to be unfavourable in Paris, but the British consider it might serve to be basis for discussion.—Reuter.

SIR JOHN SIMON STAYING IN LONDON

London, Oct. 5. A Cabinet meeting which, it is understood will be mainly concerned with the present position of the disarmament negotiations will be held on Monday.

Sir John Simon, who returned from Geneva last week-end, will remain in London to attend it.

The Foreign Under-Secretary, Captain Anthony Eden, will proceed to Geneva on Saturday to attend Monday's meeting of the Disarmament Bureau.—British Wireless.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Many Subscriptions Outstanding

London, Oct. 5. In the Budget Commission of the League Assembly to-day, the Financial Secretary to the British Treasury Mr. Hore Belisha, called for the reform of the system whereby members of the League which had failed to pay their contributions to it yet enjoyed all the privileges of membership.

Great Britain, he pointed out, alone pays one-tenth of the cost of the League and the British Empire as a whole provides at least one quarter of the League's income.

"The League does not frankly asks us to pay what others do not pay, but it asks us to pay more than would be required if all States paid their subscriptions," he said.

He proposed measures to preclude the continuation of defaults by the States members concerned. The arrears outstanding last December amounted to £960,000.—British Wireless.

REVOLUTION!

To The Bitter End

Madrid, Oct. 6. Having failed to solve the political impasse caused by the resignation of the Lerroux Cabinet, President Zamorra is now attempting to coalesce the contending parties into the Government National Conciliation Party.

The independent republican, Don Jose Pedregal, former Minister of Finance during the Lerroux Regime, is declining the President's invitation, and Doctor Maranon is now informed that the president will endeavour to form a Cabinet of National Conciliation.

In the meantime, the Lerroux Government, although it has resigned, continues to function as the acting administration, while the slogan of the socialists whose real leader is ex-Premier Azana, is revolution to the bitter end.—Reuter.

UNREST IN SPAIN

Catalonia in State Of Siege

Madrid, Oct. 6. Acute nervousness exists throughout the whole of Spain, following the collapse of the Lerroux Government.

Serious developments are feared and strikes are breaking out, notably in Catalonia.

"A State of Prevention," has been declared in the Province, this being tantamount to a preliminary state of siege. This is the outcome of a strike of the workers in the electric supply companies and the gas works, creating a situation of peril.

Pending a settlement of the Ministerial crisis the situation is not likely to improve and in this matter, President Zamorra is in a dilemma, with Socialists demanding revolution to the bitter end, while the Right Wing, backed by the weight of public opinion, calls for the dissolution of the Cortes.

In the meantime, the Lerroux Government is functioning temporarily.—Reuter.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

The Late Mrs. A. M. Williamson

London, October 6. At an inquest, held at Bath, into the circumstances surrounding the death of the famous novelist, Mrs. A. M. Williamson who died last week, a verdict of "death due to venereal poisoning accidentally administered by herself" was returned.—Reuter.

LONDON STOCK MARKETS

Improvement Shown All Round

London, Oct. 5. The stock markets closed generally firm. British funds were strong, with war loan 34 per cent. at 101.

German bonds were also higher, but Kaffirs were weak. Tin shares were buoyant, and International firm.—British Wireless.

We much regret to hear that Mrs. W. Walton Rogers, the popular wife of the Vicar of St. Andrew's, Kowloon, and Mrs. W. Lockhart, Smith, are both on the sick list and patients in hospital. We join with their many friends in wishing them a speedy recovery.

TROUBLE AT ILLINOIS

Twenty People Shot

New York, October 6. Four companies of the National Guards were sent to Saline County, Illinois, as the result of violence by pickets of the Progressive Union who attempted to prevent mine workers from returning to work in one of the Peabody Mines.

Six houses in the neighbourhood of the mine were bombed.

The electric power in the mines was cut and a railway bridge was blown up with dynamite while 1,200 pickets shot at every passerby along the fifteen miles of the road, and according to reports, wounding twenty three of whom are seriously injured.—Reuter.

VIOLENT STRIKES IN U.S.A.

Labour Outlook Serious

Washington, Oct. 5. CONFLICTS between police and strikers, in which many have been injured and in which tear-gas bombs have been employed, are reported from many different parts of the country.

Nine strike pickets were shot or clubbed into unconsciousness during a charge of two hundred deputy sheriffs on a picket line at Cambridge in Pennsylvania.

The strikers were finally overcome with tear-gas bombs, the fumes from which routed hundreds of spectators who were clustered on an adjacent hillside.

Police were involved in a similar attack on five hundred strikers at Steubenville, in Ohio, after their pickets had stoned employees of the Weirton Steel Company.

Serious Problems Facing Roosevelt

On his return to Washington to-day, President Roosevelt found himself faced with a number of new developments in the recovery situation.

The President's price-fixing schemes are now seriously challenged.

The Consumers' Advisory Board of the National Recovery Administration, for example, have reiterated their strong opposition to any proposals for price-fixing in the Ores and have suggested that it is the responsibility of Federal agencies to get busy in detecting and preventing profiteering.

Shorter Hours: More Pay. Meanwhile, Miss Frances Perkins, the Secretary of the Labour Department, the only woman in the Roosevelt Cabinet, addressing a meeting of the American Federation of Labour and endorsing the plea of Mr. Green for still shorter hours and still higher wages, has thrown herself in with the group which hold that only by this method can employment be spread further.

The Democratic leader, Senator Robinson, who has just returned from Europe, has come back with the firm conviction that currency inflation is dangerous and harmful.

He declared that recovery effects could not be achieved by means of inflation and he suggested instead the revelation and the stabilisation of the dollar, together with a prudent adjustment of price levels.

In the labour field, the outlook is again rather serious in consequence of further outbreaks of violence.

While five hundred miners have returned to the coals and the situation at Steubenville has quietened, there has been widespread rioting in the Pennsylvania coal-field and clashes between strike pickets and police in the Pittsburgh area.—Reuter.

UNHOLY DESIRE FOR WAR

By People In Europe

VISCOUNT ISHII'S ADVISE

Tokyo, October 6. "America would not be silly enough to follow the path to destruction taken by the Russian fleet in 1905," said Viscount Ishii, in the course of an interview on his return to Tokyo from Europe where he represented Japan in the World Economic Conference.

He said that many people in Europe entertained an unholy desire for war in the Pacific with the object of capturing the markets now held by Japan and America, and expressed the conviction that America and Japan would never fight. He counselled statesmen of the two countries never to become the "catpaws for other nations."—Reuter.

THE INDIAN POLICY

Lively Debate At Meeting

London, November 6. A lively debate on the Government's Indian Policy took place at the Conservative Party Conference at Birmingham which asked for support for the resolution.

In voting apprehension in regard to the White Paper proposals concerning finance, police welfare, and the Indian peoples' trade discrimination against Britain, Lord Lloyd said that the proposals would render Britain's allies in India.

Sir Neville Chamberlain, on behalf of the Government, said that the proposals, contained ample safeguards in respect of defence of trade discrimination.

An amendment urging delegates to suspend judgment until the select committee had reported on the matter was carried by 737 votes to 344.—Reuter.

FANG CHEN WU DETERMINED

To Fight Against Chiang

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Oct. 6. WHILE it is difficult for General Fang Chen Wu and Chih Hung Chang to force their way to Peking, the "Man Kwok Yat Po" (Republican Daily News), organ of the Provincial Kuomintang and the First Group Army, frankly stated to-day that General Fang Chen Wu is trying to capture the old capital as a base of operation against General Chiang Kai Shek, Chairman of the National Military Commission.

The South-west Political Council has appointed General Fang Chen Wu Commander-in-Chief of the North-west Allied Forces with the avowed object of recovering invaded territories, but General Fang, in commemorating the loss of Mukden, issued a circular telegram on September 16 announcing his determination to fight General Chiang before regaining lost provinces.

The "Man Kwok Yat Po" denied that General Fang Chen Wu is in alliance with the Japanese or that General Chih Hung Chang is working hand in hand with the Communists.

MR. T. YOSHIDA

Transferred To Japan

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Oct. 6. Mr. T. Yoshida, acting Japanese consul general in Canton, left here this morning by train for Hong Kong en route to Japan. He is transferred to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Tokyo for new duties, and his post here is filled by Mr. S. Kawaguchi.

The departing consul general called on Mayor Liu Chi wen yesterday to bid him good-bye. At the same time he introduced his successor, who accompanied Mr. Yoshida to the City Government Building.

Mr. Yoshida was formerly consul general at Hong Kong and was transferred here to replace Mr. Y. Shima, who has become first secretary in the Japanese legation in Shanghai.

Mr. Kawaguchi has many years of diplomatic and consular service in North China. Prior to his arrival in Canton, he was a councillor in the Changchun Japanese Embassy.

DAIREN BEANS

Smuggled Into Canton

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, October 6. On account of frequent smuggling of Dairen beans and other agricultural products from Manchuria to Canton, the Kwangtung National organs here for the effective enforcement of this ban.

Imports from the Manchukuo are banned in Canton at the recommendation of the South-west Foreign Trade Committee on the ground that the Manchukuo is a label regime and has no legal existence in the family of nations. Before the prohibition, the total value of agricultural products to Canton was about $20,000,000 a year.

Extensive smuggling of these imports has lowered the prices of native beans. The Dairen beans were smuggled from Newchwang to Kowloon and Tolsan in South-west Kwangtung, thence to Canton.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

Shanghai, October 6. According to Chinese reports, fighting is still in progress between the Government troops and the rebels under General Fang Chen Wu near Tangshan. Both sides have suffered heavy losses.

The front line is only a mile from the Tangshan Hot Springs and shells have landed in the market there.

A detachment of General Fang's cavalry is reported to have been seen in an advanced position near Kailiyang, but they failed to enter the city, being repulsed by the Government troops in that sector of the line.

Martial law was declared at 7 o'clock yesterday evening in the Haitien area of Peking, where the Tsinghua and Yenching Universities are situated, owing to the proximity of Hattien to Tangshan.—Reuter.

CHINA'S BUDGET

All Provinces Must Adopt System

Nanking, Oct. 6. The Legislative Yuan meeting this morning approved the flotation of $100,000,000 Customs Treasury Notes, as well as a Customs 1 per cent. surtax.

The Legislative Yuan is also petitioning the Government to order all provincial and municipal governments to prepare their budgets as from the beginning of this year. The enforcing of the Budget system throughout the country is expected in 1934.—Reuter.

FANG EXPELLED!

From The Kuomintang

Nanking, October 6. The Central Control Committee of the Kuomintang has decided to expel Fang Chen Wu from the party.

All members of the Central Executive Committee were formally notified to-day of the recent decision to postpone the fifth Kuomintang Congress till November, 1934.—Reuter.

CLEARANCE OF SLUMS

Conservatives Support Scheme

London, October 6.

The Conservative Party Conference, at which there were present 1,800 delegates from all parts of Britain, to-day pledged itself to give full support to the Government slum clearance policy.

The Minister of Health, Sir Hilton Young, who a few months ago, called on all local authorities to prepare schemes for the total elimination of slums within five years, and the provision of alternative accommodation, reported that the first stage of the campaign had given good results.

The bulk of local authorities had, he said, taken up the task with energy and vision, and he had already received returns covering three-fifths of the population.

The estimated totals from these returns provide for the clearance of 210,000 houses and the rehousing of about 1,050,000 people in five years.

Big Effort.

During the last ten years only 20,000 slum houses had been cleared and that effort was now being multiplied by twenty.

The cost would represent a total capital outlay in five years of £95 millions or £19 millions yearly. The Minister declared that the Government were determined to see the matter through and now that the bulk of the local authorities are devoting such vigour to the matter there would be no excuse for the laggards.

Among other resolutions passed by the Conservative Conference was one urging that efforts should be concentrated on Empire consolidation and development, including emigration and the extension of inter-imperial trade.

The leader of party, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, will address the Conference to-morrow and it is understood will deal with disarmament and other aspects of the international situation.—British Wireless.

HERTZOG GETS A SHOCK

Fusion Proposals Rejected

Capetown, October 5. General Hertzog's ideas regarding the fusion of the Nationalist and South African Parties received a sharp setback to-day at Port Elizabeth.

A general election in the near future is now regarded as almost inevitable.

The blow came at a meeting of the Cape Nationalist Congress when a proposal for the fusion of the parties was made by Mr. Fourie, the Minister for Mines, on behalf of General Hertzog.

Powerful speeches were made in support of the proposal, but the criticism was severe and the proposal was defeated by an overwhelming majority, 142 votes to 30. Malan Victory.

The margin of defeat was more astonishing than the setback itself. General Hertzog's hopes of fusion in Cape Province are definitely destroyed.

The sway of the Congress against Hertzog is regarded as a great personal victory for Dr. Malan, formerly General Hertzog's right-hand man and now his principal opponent.

It is considered highly probable that the vote, which practically amounted to one of no-confidence, will produce the resignation of General Hertzog from leadership of the Nationalists, with an early general election.—Reuter.

KHOO'S ATTACK ON JAPAN

Chinese Attitude Harmful, Says Japan

Tokyo, Oct. 2. It was reliably learned to-day that the Foreign Office plans to request reconsideration of the action taken by Dr. Wellington Koo at the General Assembly of the League of Nations on September 29, according to the Foreign Office, Dr. Koo attacked the Japanese attitude toward China before the General Assembly of the League by stating that the Japanese action in China violated the League Covenant and the Kellogg Peace Pact, and that the Military action in Jehol and northern China ignored the resolution of the League adopted last Spring.

In the opinion of government leaders here, the Chinese attitude at the League meeting is regrettable and harmful to Far Eastern peace and Japan cannot help being suspicious of China's sincerity for better Sino-Japanese relations. The government, therefore, will order Mr. Akira Ariyoshi, Minister to China, to confer with the Nanking Government shortly.—United Press.

FOOTBALL COUNCIL MEETING

South China's Application For Postponement Refused

BOWEN AND MOSS SUSPENDED

The recent incident during the Revere-Police match in which two players, Bowen (Revere) and Moss (Police), were ordered off the field by the referee for disorderly conduct was recalled yesterday when the Emergency Committee of the Hongkong Football Council held a meeting to consider the matter. After hearing evidence from both parties the Committee decided to suspend them for one month.

At the subsequent meeting of the Council body, the application made by the South China Athletic Association who won the first division championship last year for the postponement of their first and second division fixtures during October on account of their having gone up to Nanking for the National Meet was considered.

Inspector James proposed that they should be allowed to postpone this week's matches, but that it would be impossible for them to delay the rest of the fixtures. They had chosen to go and the responsibility therefore rested on their shoulders to fulfil the fixtures.

The League Management Committee who were empowered to decide the matter then went into consultation and after about 10 minutes they decided that the application be refused. The matter was then put to the vote and with the exception of Mr. J. D. Bush, the representative for South China and Mr. C. Goldenberg, all the members agreed. The decision was that "all the matches must be played in accordance with the fixture list."

THE GOVERNOR'S CUP.

With regard to this competition it was decided to play the match on Tuesday, October 10. According to the new rules recently adopted, two teams representing respectively the Chinese and non-Chinese clubs in membership of the Association are allowed to compete. Unfortunately most of the South China's players, as stated, have already left for Nanking, and as the Chinese Athletics Association was not affiliated to the Chinese Amateur Federation the fielding of a strong Chinese team was at first deemed to be impossible.

However, at yesterday's meeting, Mr. H. K. Lee who represented the Chinese Athletics Association, to co-operate with South China in putting up a team, and this was greeted with applause by the other members.

It was also mentioned that Dr. H. H. Kotewall has resigned from the vice-presidency of the Association owing to pressure of work, and that Mr. M. K. Lo has consented to fill the vacancy.

Those present at the meeting were Messrs. C. M. Manners (Chairman), W. Alexander (Secretary), G. T. May (Hon. Secretary), J. Logan (Asst. Hon. Secretary), C. Goldenberg, J. D. Bush, H. K. Lee, W. R. Hughes, T. A. Mitchell, J. Ralston, Inspector James, Capt. Elliot-Heywood, Capt. Fleetwood and Lt. Tollington.

SHANGHAI LOSE AGAIN

Kowloon C.C. Provides Surprise

SILKSTONE IN GREAT FORM

On the eve of their interport game with Hongkong, the Shanghai lawn bowls team went down surprisingly to the Kowloon C.C. last evening in a match which was devoid of excitement.

C. Richards, for the visitors again played a very sound game, giving a brilliant exhibition all the way. The team however, did not support him as well on Thursday when Richards proved to be a thorn in the side of the Kowloon Bowling Green. In yesterday's team, Richards was often called upon to execute almost impossible shots, and considering the situation he did extremely well.

It was W. A. Bailey who proved a disappointment yesterday. As No. 3 he was decidedly erratic, and except in one or two heads, was not of much aid to the side. Main as No. 2 played a very sound game and pulled his weight with the team, and "Sandy" Malcolm as No. 1 was doing very well. He often laid the shot and was very accurate towards the end of the game. Malcolm however, plays much better as No. 3 or even as skip.

The Kowloon team played very well indeed. A. E. Silkstone held his own against Richards more than once, and was responsible for some pretty draws. His driving too, was a feature of the match, and while he is not so good in this department as Richards, he gave a very good display. Hampton played his usual sound game, putting in a good shot from time to time. Howe was indifferent but Goodwin was of great help to his skip, towering over Bailey and making a big difference to the skip's play.

STRANGE STORY FROM HUNG HOM

Midnight Crowd And A Man Killed

The charge of manslaughter against the two Chinese males named Tsan Wu Tsai and Liu Chun was continued before Mr. Butters at Kowloon Magistrate's yesterday, and after further evidence had been taken the case was again adjourned.

The charge against the accused was the sequel to a street fight in Hung Hom on Sept. 20, in which a Chinese named Chau Kun Fat was killed.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, the Assistant Attorney General, is conducting the prosecution and Inspector Chester-Woods is in charge of the police investigations.

Evidence of finding of the deceased was given by a Chinese constable Ho Kong Fook. He said that on the night in question he was on his beat in Lok Sang Road when a man came up to him and told him that there was a row going on in Ha Heung Lane. When he got to the scene, at about 11 p.m., he saw a crowd of about seventy people there, some of whom were shouting that there had been a theft. Some distance away, on a foot-path he saw a Chinese crouching with his hands over his stomach. He asked him what was the matter and told the man to accompany him. The deceased walked with him a few yards, and then sat down. Witness raised him and they walked on a little further but he again squatted down. Witness then got the help of Shek Choh, a boiler-maker who had given evidence at the previous hearing, and they helped the man along for about 20 yards. He then lay down and as witness thought that he was out of breath he let him be. Deceased did not say anything.

Two other constables then came up and witness asked them to look after the deceased while he reported. Witness identified the body at the Mortuary the next morning.

Ho Fook, one of the constables mentioned by the previous witness gave corroborative evidence. He said that the man died immediately after the first constable had left, and before Inspector Langley turned up.

Asked what he had to say first defendant said: "The policeman is telling the truth but the witness yesterday was lying."

Inspector Langley's Evidence

Inspector H. E. Langley, of Hung Hom Station, said that constable 354 made a report to him at the station that night as the result of which he sent him with C. 427 to the scene. At that time he did not think it was anything serious. About twenty minutes later, on receipt of a telephone message from one of the constables he immediately went out himself. This was about midnight. In Heung Street, he found the body of the dead man. There was a faint bruise on the right breast and both knee-caps appeared to be scratched. The man's clothing was covered with dirt and mud and appeared torn. There was a slight spot of blood on the chest, in line with the bruise. The Chinese constable took him to a spot in the undergrowth where he found marks consistent with a heavy body having rested there. He also saw some dragging marks along the path. On the path he found a quantity of tallow-roots and quite close was a small, sand basket. There were signs in the garden nearby that it had been disturbed recently and there were tallow-roots lying on the ground. Inspector Langley concluded his testimony by giving evidence of identification at the Mortuary.

Evidence of the arrest was given by a Chinese constable and corroborated by Sergeant Flaherty who said that the arrest was made on Sept. 24 outside 37 Ha Heung Street, in the presence of Inspector Langley.

Chan Yau, elder brother of the deceased was then called and he testified to having seen his brother last on Sept. 18, when he was in normal health.

This included the case for the prosecution and Mr. Fraser then applied for an adjournment pending the completion of the plans of the street in which the incident took place.

A remand of twenty-four hours was accordingly granted.

A LESSON TO BUS DRIVERS

Fined For Refusing To Stop

A much needed lesson to bus drivers and conductors was given at Kowloon Magistrate's yesterday by Mr. Butters yesterday morning.

Mr. A. H. Howard appeared as complainant against a bus driver, Liu Ting Hong, who was summoned for "refusing to admit and carry at the lawful fare, a passenger for whom there was room, and to whose admission no reasonable objection could be made at the time on September 14."

Mrs. Howard said she was waiting for a bus opposite Granville Road she saw a bus slowing down. She walked towards it, but the driver accelerated. The bus was not full and there was no reason why the driver should not have stopped.

Mrs. Howard said she was certain that the driver noticed her. There was another lady waiting for the bus.

Defendant declared that he stopped the bus but he only noticed Mrs. Howard when he had started it again. There were several buses following, and he found that he could not stop again without causing some danger.

His Worship convicted and imposed a fine of $10.

J. Young, driver of a private car was fined $5 for failing to obey a traffic signal in Salisbury Road at 12.30 p.m. on September 1. Defendant admitted the offence and said he was already half way round the bend when he noticed that the signal was against him.

A. Xavier, driver of a private car was summoned for allowing an unlicensed driver to drive his car in Nathan Road on August 30. He admitted the offence and was fined $10.

Miss George, the unlicensed driver, was fined a similar sum for driving in an area not stipulated in her learner-driver's licence.

For speeding in Nathan Road opposite the Majestic Theatre at 32 miles an hour on September 18, W. Buehner pleaded guilty and was fined $15.

BRITISH SHIPPING PROSPECTS

Sir Archibald Hurd And The Unfinished Cunarder

The belief that work on the half-finished Cunarder "No. 534" will be resumed before the end of the year was expressed by Sir Archibald Hurd when he discussed the present position of British shipping with a representative of "The London Observer."

Sir Archibald's opinion is the more significant in view of rumours that the merger between the Cunard and White Star lines is shortly to be carried out for it was on that condition that the Government promised financial aid for the new Cunarder—and the result of inquiries made in London recently seemed to indicate that an arrangement between the two companies may not be far off.

"While it is essential that No. 534 should be completed," said Sir Archibald, "it is equally vital that the sister ship which has been planned should also be laid down. Quite apart from the benefits to our Atlantic shipping, about 150 industries would be affected by such an undertaking."

"I certainly believe that No. 534 will be continued before the end of the year."

Of British shipping generally Sir Archibald was inclined to take a less pessimistic view than many authorities. The action of the South African Government in granting a subsidy of £160,000 to two Italian lines still for the provision of a service between South Africa and the Mediterranean ports caused considerable discussion in shipping circles recently, and there were rumours of possible action by the British Government, but Sir Archibald said that he thought that British ship-owners would still remain opposed to Government interference of any sort.

"The Chamber of Shipping and the other shipping associations have declared against Government aid," he said, "and while they will review the position this autumn they will probably remain largely of the same opinion."

"It should be remembered that we still own more than half the world's fastest ships and we have still the biggest and most efficient merchant fleet in the world."

"A great deal of the present trouble is due to general trade depression. It is true that since the end of the war about 21,000,000,000 has been spent by foreign Governments to promote their shipping but subsidies are not the only factors."

GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE

"The opposition of British ship-owners to financial aid from the Government is based on the feeling that there would ensue Government interference with the running of their businesses."

"History shows that subsidised shipping is never really successful—the French have been subsidising their shipping for generations. The coastal shipowners, however, are pressing for some form of protection."

"Another aspect of the question, of course, is that some of the subsidising countries have the possibility of war in the back of their minds. The United States, Germany, Italy, France and Japan are exercising an increasing control

ARMS RAID AT SHAMSHUIPO

At the Kowloon Magistrate's before Mr. Butters yesterday four men were charged in connexion with the discovery of a revolver at No. 430, Portland St.

Sergeant Goodwin said the revolver was found in the cockpit which was at the time occupied by four men, Chan Lam, Yeung Yuet, Leung Chee and Chan Tai, all of whom were taken into custody.

The first defendant admitted that the revolver belonged to him, and stated that the other three did not know anything about it.

"He was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour and the other three were discharged."

over their shipping, and what it amounts to in effect is that as far as liner tonnage is concerned foreign shipping is slowly being nationalised. We and the Scandinavian countries are now the only nations with unaided shipping.

"Yet in spite of all this we maintain our reputation as ship builders and repairers. During the past few months there have been more orders and repairs. During the past few months there have been more orders placed in British yards than during the corresponding period for last year, and the outlook is, I think, rather brighter."

"Apart from the question of the new Cunarders, which owing to their enormous size are an exceptional case, I do not think it would be safe to prophesy subsidies for British shipping in the near future."

"The unification of the Hamburg-Amerika line and the North German Lloyd that has been announced is merely the outcome of a re-organisation of German shipping which has been going on for some time and is not likely to have any particular repercussion on British interests."

CHURCH NOTES

A few changes have recently taken place in the personnel of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon. Mrs. Bird and Miss W. Robinson have both retired from the Church Council and have also resigned respectively the positions of Hon. Sec. of the Fellowship and Scripture Union. These two honorary posts have been filled by Mr. W. Robson, the People's Warden, and Miss Cox, of the Diocesan Girls' School, who is a newcomer to the colony. The opening of the new Church at Kowloon Tong has necessitated the resignation from St. Andrew's Church Council of Mrs. Landley. Mr. and Mrs. Landley have taken up residence at the Church House, Kowloon Tong, and are to identify them-

MR. F. CULLEN INJURED

Accident At Kowloon Docks

OUT OF INTERPORT TO-DAY

Mr. F. Cullen, who was to have played No. 3 in R. F. Luz rink in the first interport bowls match with Shanghai to-day, met with a serious accident on Thursday as the result of which he is now in hospital. This will, of course, mean he will not be able to take his place in the interport team, and Mr. W. Mair, of the Police R. O. has been invited to play.

Details of the accident are somewhat meagre but it appears that Mr. Cullen, who is employed in the stores department of the Kowloon Docks, fell from a flight of steps near the K.D.R.C. The distance was about fifteen feet and Mr. Cullen struck his head against a balustrade at the bottom and was severely injured. He was taken to Kowloon Hospital, where up till yesterday morning his condition was reported to be serious and gave cause to some anxiety.
